$3,100,000,000 Civil Defense Plan Presented To Congress

Nearly Two-Thirds Of Money Would Go For "Communal" Bomb Shelters

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The administration today presented Congress a $3,100,000,000 program for building bomb shelters and otherwise mobilizing the nation's civil defenses.

Nearly two-thirds of the money would go for "communal type" shelters, designed for protection against atomic warfare.

James J. Wadsworth, a top official of President Truman's newly created Civil Defense Administration, said the federal government proposed to match the expenditures of cities and states on a dollar-for-dollar basis in the construction of the bomb shelters.

"To do less, in our opinion, might well result in no shelters or in shelters completely inadequate to cope with the atom bomb," Wadsworth told the Senate-House Atomic Committee in outlining the program.

No "Broomstick Army"

Both Wadsworth and W. Stuart Symington, economic mobilization chief, emphasized that every American citizen must help in the event of enemy attack.

Symington said the federal government must have a practical and realistic program for local leaders, and he declared:

"Obviously, the fate of the nation would be in jeopardy if we put our trust in a 'broomstick army' of eager but untrained volunteers which some might believe could be mustered overnight to cope with the crashing impact of atomic warfare."

Wadsworth said the federal government proposed to put up about $1,670,000,000 or 54 per cent of the total outlay for the three-year program, with the states and local governments providing the remainder.

He gave the following breakdown:

1. For "communal" shelters—$2,250,000,000. The U. S. government would contribute 50 per cent.

400 Million For Supplies

2. For heavy equipment used in fire fighting, engineering, transportation, communications, rescue service, etc.—$200,000,000. Again the federal government would pay half, and the state-local governments the rest.

3. For cost of local personnel and administration, supplies and equipment needed by volunteer workers—$200,000,000. This would be financed by the states and local communities themselves.

4. For regional stockpiles and materials, including engineering supplies, blood plasma, medical and evacuee supplies—$400,000,000. This would be provided by the federal government.

5. For communications and control centers—$32,000,000, all provided by the federal government.

15,000 Enlisted Naval Reserves Report In Spring

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (INS)—The Navy today called up 15,000 enlisted reserves and defense officials indicated the nation's whole reserve program is being revised as result of the critical Far East situation.

The Navy action was the first large-scale summoning of reservists since the lull in mobilization when victory in Korea appeared certain after the Inchon landings. The naval reserves will be ordered to report in April, May and June.

The Navy said about half of the 15,000 men being called will be enlisted men with at least six months experience in the Navy and the balance will be naval specialists in 34 different fields.

Full 4 Billions In Profits Taxes Urged By Snyder

Sees Possible 50% Boost In Spending

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said gravely today that Congress should provide the full $4,000,000,000 in excess profits taxes asked by the administration, and get ready for an even more massive tax program next year.

He estimated that the tumultuous world situation may push government spending up next year by 50 per cent, for a possible total of $67,500,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

"The events of the past few days in Korea and in other parts of the world testify to the compelling need for the reenactment of additional profits taxes at this congressional session," Snyder said.

First Witness At Hearings

He was the first witness as the Senate Finance Committee opened hearings on President Truman's request to siphon off $4,000,000,000 of abnormal corporate profits into the federal treasury.

The House, meanwhile, started debate on its version of an excess profits tax, recommended by a majority of the members of the Ways and Means Committee. With a base somewhat narrower than the administration asked, the bill was estimated by committee experts as likely to yield about $3,400,000,000 a year.

GOP Offers Substitute

Snyder, however, figured the potential revenue from it at only $3,000,000,000.

As the House debate started, Republican leaders there came up with a proposed substitute plan which they said would yield $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 more than the Ways and Means Committee measure. Their plan would couple an increase in the normal tax rate on corporations with an excess profits levy. It was given little chance of adoption.

GIs Get Cheaper Rail Rate During Holidays

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP)—The nation's railroads today voted to grant cheaper round trip coach fares to men in uniform during the coming holiday season.

The cut-rate for servicemen will be in effect between Dec. 15 and January 15. It applies only to railroad coach fares.

It was adopted at a meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association, which was attended by representatives of all the nation's passenger carrying railroads.

E. B. Padrick, chairman of the association, said servicemen in uniform can travel by coach at the rate of two cents a mile if they purchase tickets between Dec. 15 and Jan. 10. The tickets must be used no later than Jan. 15.

Crime Probe's Chief Is Vetoed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) tried unsuccessfully today to get the Senate to issue warrants for the arrest of 11 men he described as "principal racketeers of the country."

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, named the 11 and asked for their arrest by the Senate sergeant at arms or any deputies he might appoint. He said they are in hiding from his committee and left no doubt he hoped by means of his resolution to put the FBI on their trail.

The move, without known precedent in the Senate, was blocked at least temporarily when Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois asked that Kefauver's resolution be referred to the Judiciary Committee for study. The Senate agreed by a voice vote. Kefauver served notice he will try to get that decision overturned tomorrow.

Patent Office Hit As Court Backs A. & P.

Tray-Like Device Not Infringement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—The Supreme Court lost its patience today with gadget-makers who want to get patents, and it cracked the knuckles of the Patent Office for humoring them.

The framers of the Constitution, the court said, "never sanctioned the patenting of gadgets. Patents serve a higher end—the advancement of science."

And, to back up its contention, the court quoted Article One, Section Eight of the Constitution which says the purpose of patents is "to promote the progress of science and useful arts."

The Patent Office, the court said, "has placed a host of gadgets under the armour of patents" in seizing an opportunity to expand its own jurisdiction. In doing this, the court added, the Patent Office has acted "like most administrative agencies."

The high tribunal tossed out a contention of the Supermarket Equipment Corporation that the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. (A. and P.) had infringed three claims involved in a patent. The patent at issue covered a tray-like device for store check-out counters to pull customers' merchandise up to the checker.

A. and P. appealed from a ruling of the U. S. District Court in Detroit. It contended the claims were invalid for lack of invention. The Supreme Court agreed unanimously.

59% Of West Virginia Voters Cast Ballots

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 4 (AP)—Approximately 59 per cent of West Virginia's registered voters cast ballots in the November 7 general election, official figures showed today.

Final returns certified to the Secretary of State from all 55 counties showed a total vote of 637,367 out of a total registration of 1,080,113.

Bay Span May Not Stand Up McKeldin Quotes Engineers

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4. (AP)—Governor-elect Theodore R. McKeldin said today engineers have told him the big bridge Maryland is building across Chesapeake bay may not stand up under the battering of tides and ice.

McKeldin said he had been told the winter storm a week ago Saturday and Sunday did a lot more damage to bridge supports and piers than had been reported.

"I was told," he said, "that not only was the superstructure damaged, but that there was considerable damage to the underwater structure.

"That could be a serious matter indeed.

"When I become governor, I propose to re-examine completely the bridge situation for my own information."

McKeldin said he also is concerned lest the Korean war situation make it impossible to get enough steel to finish the bridge.

He pointed out that $40,000,000 worth of bonds for the bridge would have to be paid off as they mature even if it is not completed. The bridge is to be financed from its own tolls and those from Maryland's bridges across the Susquehanna at Havre De Grace and the Potomac at Newburg.

The first piece of superstructure for the bay bridge, from north of Annapolis to Kent island on the Eastern Shore, was put in place just before the storm. It is scheduled for completion late in 1951.

New Storms Hit East And West; Wheeling Prepares For Flood

[By The Associated Press]

The weather hit the East and western states Monday with a quick repeat performance of floods, heavy snow and gales.

The storms followed a similar, but less destructive, pattern of those which claimed 297 lives and caused more than a hundred million dollars in damage late last month.

Flood waters were on the rampage in California, Nevada, Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia and Pennsylvania. Some 5,000 persons already were homeless.

At least five traffic deaths were attributed to the new California storms.

Snow In Western Md.

An intense storm sweeping north through Virginia, began dumping a new thick blanket of snow across eastern areas that were buried under record snowfall a little less than a week ago.

As the storm picked up headway, Western Maryland reported four inches, West Virginia had up to eight inches, Virginia had snow west of the Blue Ridge mountains, and Central New York had a heavy fall.

The Weather Bureau, in a special bulletin, said the storm could cause from five to 10 inches of snow in Central Pennsylvania and in Central and Eastern New York except for the coast of New York where it was expected to be in the form of rain.

The big Ohio river was rising swiftly after heavy rains and a quick thaw. It was expected to push out of its banks in the upper Ohio valley by Tuesday morning.

Wheeling Braced For Flood

Wheeling, W. Va., braced for its worst flood since 1945. Several industries, including the Wheeling Steel Corp., began shutting down. The city was warned the big Ohio might rise nearly 14 feet to a stage of 45 feet by Tuesday noon.

East Liverpool, in Northeastern, O., expected the river to reach seven feet above its 32-foot flood stage. Several families were evacuated along the river.

Big and little rivers were rolling out of their banks in Pennsylvania, but colder weather was expected to check the rise.

Woman's Body Cut Up, Placed In Suitcase

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—The nude body of a slim woman, neatly sliced into four parts, was found today crammed in two cheap suitcases and checked in a busy public locker room in Brooklyn.

A preliminary autopsy showed no marks of violence on the body beyond the actual butchering.

Authorities said the woman may have been poisoned or strangled.

A head, torso and arms—all connected—were found in a black imitation leather suitcase in locker 216 of the Long Island Railroad's Brooklyn station.

In adjoining locker 220, were the pelvis attached to the thighs, and the two legs severed just above the knee.

Five Indicted For Contempt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Three atomic scientists and two men described by a congressional committee as Communist organizers were indicted here today for contempt of Congress.

The scientists, who worked in the wartime radiation laboratory at the University of California, are Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz, 29; Irving Davis Fox, 30, and David Joseph Bohm, 33.

The others indicted are Steve Nelson, 47, described by the House Un-American Activities Committee as Communist Party organizer for Western Pennsylvania, and Marcel Scherer, 51, accused by the subcommittee of helping Nelson establish a Communist cell in the laboratory at Berkeley, Calif., where the scientists were employed.

The charges stemmed from the refusal of the five to answer questions put to them by the Un-American Activities Committee.

With the five new indictments, 24 persons have been indicted in recent weeks for refusing to answer the questions of various congressional committees.

Upon conviction, the maximum penalty is a year in jail and $1,000 fine on each count.

Snyder Predicts Pay-Price Curbs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder predicted today that general wage-price controls will have to be invoked "to avoid damaging inflation."

But Alan Valentine, chief of the federal wage-price control agency, declined to be specific on timing when senators demanded to know what the administration plans to do about rising prices and wage problems.

Valentine indicated that the government has not yet mobilized a staff to carry out the controls even if it wished to do so.

Meanwhile, the Senate voted to begin debate at once on a bill extending federal rent control for two months beyond the present expiration date on Dec. 31.

In the House, hearings are now going forward on a separate bill to extend rent controls for the full 90-day period requested by President Truman. Under present law federal controls end Dec. 31 except where communities have acted to retain them.

Declare Their Determination To Reach Unity

Emergency Talks To Resume Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee, after an emergency face-to-face conference, announced tonight their "determination" to understand each other's problems in meeting the fast darkening world crisis.

The American and British leaders reported this much progress in a "frank discussion" at the White House lasting one hour and 35 minutes. They reviewed "the general world situation in the light of developments in the Far East" where their troops are falling back before a horde of Chinese Communists.

A joint statement issued after the opening conference gave no hint as to the specific topics discussed. The Prime Minister and the President arranged to resume their extraordinary discussions aboard the President's yacht Williamsburg tomorrow after a 1 p. m. (EST) lunch.

Bradley Reviews War

The meeting was hurriedly summoned at Attlee's request six and a half hours after he landed here from London. He came to work out with Mr. Truman a joint approach to the grave problems ahead of the free world in meeting the suddenly expanded Communist aggression.

The only specific action mentioned in the brief statement was that Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the American Joint Chiefs of Staff, summarized the latest military developments in Korea during the meeting.

"The frank discussion which followed revealed the determination of Mr. Attlee and Mr. Truman to arrive at a mutual understanding of the serious problems faced by both the United Kingdom and the U. S. as well as by other members of the U. N.," the statement said adding:

"The common ground on which their governments base their foreign policy was fully revealed."

The conference had been scheduled to start tomorrow morning but the British leader, according to aides, felt the Chinese Communist onslaught in Korea made quick decisions imperative.

Hopes To Align Policies

Before the emergency talks began, Attlee pledged in a statement that Communist propagandists would never succeed in separating the British and American people. The aim of his mission, he said, is to align American and British policies so the two countries "can stand firm" against aggression.

As the meeting got under way, American officials told reporters the U. S. was determined to stand firm in its opposition to admitting Communist China to the U. N.

Nor will the American government, they said, give formal diplomatic recognition to the Chinese Communist regime as a "price" for stopping the Communist offensive against Gen. MacArthur's forces in Korea.

Margaret Truman Says She's Not Engaged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, isn't engaged.

She said so herself today at a news conference, when a reporter asked about rumors linking her name with Marvin Braverman, a Washington attorney and her frequent escort.

"I think Mr. Braverman is a very charming gentleman, but I never have been nor do I expect to be engaged to him," Miss Truman said.

AP Photographer Frank Noel Falls Into Reds' Hands

TOKYO, Dec. 4 (AP)—Frank Noel, Pulitzer prize-winning Associated Press photographer, has been captured by the Chinese Communists in Northeast Korea.

Noel, 45, was captured Friday night near Koto, six miles south of the Changjin reservoir, when he volunteered to take a jeep down a road which a cutoff U. S. Marine motor convoy was trying to traverse.

Capt. Michael Capraro, Marine public information officer from San Francisco, reported today that he saw the Chinese drag Noel away.

Additional confirmation came tonight from a First Marine Division spokesman. He said a marine who was captured with Noel had later escaped and brought back one of Noel's camera lenses. How he happened to get the lens was not clear, but Noel may have sent it back as a token or to save an expensive piece of equipment. He always carried a spare.

U. N. Assembly Asked To Judge Red China Move

Vague Peace Hopes Kept Alive By Lie

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Big Three western powers and three other Security Council members today asked the veto-free United Nations General Assembly to sit in judgment on Red China's intervention in Korea.

The move came in a telegram addressed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie by Britain, France, the United States, Norway, Cuba and Ecuador.

Next Move Delayed

It called the step urgent and important. Warren Austin, chief U. S. delegate, said the next move is being delayed for instructions from Washington where President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee were talking.

The instructions will cover submission of a memorandum promised by the six nations to explain the request for Assembly action. Austin said he expects the memorandum to be presented tomorrow. The Assembly's 14-nation steering committee then will consider putting the question on the Assembly program.

Russia vetoed last week a Security Council resolution, framed by the same six nations, calling for Red China to withdraw troops from Korea.

Conferences Stir Hopes

Vague peace hopes were stirred by weekend conferences between India's Sir Genegal N. Rau and Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, chief Chinese Communist spokesman. The hopes were kept alive when Lie invited the Chinese Communist, Rau, and representatives of four other countries to an informal dinner meeting at Lie's home tonight.

Besides Rau and the Chinese Communists, Lie invited Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain, Israel's Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, and Sven Grafstrom of Sweden.

15 To 20 Persons Hurt In Bus-Car Collision

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 4 (AP) — A crowded Greyhound bus overturned near here late today as the driver swerved in a vain effort to avoid a collision. An estimated 15 to 20 persons were injured, one critically.

Most gravely hurt was Jane Helen Hatcher, 25, Tacoma, driver of the car involved in the collision with the northbound bus. She may not live.

Defense Dept. Denies Draft Figure "Blackout" Ordered

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Defense Department said today no "blackout" on figures on inductions and draft examinations had been ordered.

The department said it had no knowledge of any such order as the head of the New York City Selective Service, Col. Candler Cobb, said had been issued.

Cobb said such an order had been issued "in the interest of national security."

He said the blackout came on written orders from National Selective Service headquarters.

The Budget Bureau on Nov. 26 took preliminary steps toward restricting release of government statistical information where it "might endanger the national security."

All bureaus were asked to submit for Budget Bureau approval "any proposals for the publication of statistics which may involve questions of national security." The bureau's action was taken at President Truman's direction.

A draft official said Selective Service headquarters is uncertain what draft information may be subject to censorship under the White House order.

Pilots Report Airfield Taken Over By Reds

Million Chinese Push Southward

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 5 (AP) — The Allies quit Pyongyang today as spearheads of a mighty 1,000,000-man Chinese Red army threatened to outflank that onetime Korean Communist citadel.

It was quite possible the surging Red forces would recapture the former northern capital without firing a shot, reported AP Correspondent Tom Lambert.

Observation planes reported today the Reds had occupied Pyongyang airfield on the city's northeast outskirts.

U. S. Eighth Army sources said at midday that Red guerillas may have entered Pyongyang but there were no confirmed reports that the Reds had occupied the city.

The last American and South Korean troops north of the city of 300,000 withdrew shortly before Monday midnight. Their way was lighted by several large fires as material of military value went up in flames.

The British 29th Brigade covered the withdrawal of the Americans and South Koreans, then itself began moving south through Pyongyang's center across the ice-choked Taedong.

The Pyongyang airfield was abandoned shortly after midnight, reported Lambert.

He said withdrawal of all Allied forces was to have been completed shortly thereafter.

People Are Orderly

Lambert said that despite the disappearance of Korean police and the municipal government, the people of Pyongyang were orderly.

The Far East Air Force reported its planes killed 2,100 Reds in North Korea Monday pushing the last three-day total past 6,000.

There was little fighting on the northwest front in this darkest hour for United Nations arms since the North Korean Reds began the war June 25.

Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters that the pullback might go as deep south as Seoul, 125 air miles to the southeast. There a perimeter could be thrown around the Republic of Korea capital and the escape port of Inchon.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the retreating army, said a decision must be made soon whether to stand and fight or quit Korea altogether.

Whitehead reported that most military men in the field believed the Chinese were determined to destroy the Eighth Army. If Gen. Walker decides to stand and fight behind a curtain of air and artillery bombardment, his army will face odds no other American army ever has confronted.

Fighting Heavy In Northeast

On the isolated northeastern front, fighting was heavy and bloody. In sub-zero temperatures, Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond's trapped Tenth Corps—three U. S. divisions and two ROK divisions—battled for life over vast distances.

The corps was spread thin over

Senators Urge Action In Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP) — Aroused Congress members today demanded swift action to deal with Red China in the Korean war crisis and attacked the Truman administration with renewed calls for the ouster of Secretary of State Acheson.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), newly returned from talks with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo, said MacArthur should be given immediate authority to hit Chinese Communist bases in Manchuria and called for the expulsion of Soviet Russia from the United Nations.

Sen. Chavez (D-NY) urged the United States to raise a 20,000,000-man "world army," trained and equipped as American soldiers, to battle Communism.

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) told the Senate the United States should wage all-out war in Korea—"strike with everything we have or evacuate and get out."

Stennis also declared—as did Knowland and several other lawmakers—that the time has come to throw Chinese Nationalist troops into the fight against the Reds. President Truman said last week it was hoped that keeping these troops out of the fight would avoid involvement in a world war.

Sen. Kem (R-Mo) and Malone (R-Nev) told the Senate that Secretary Acheson should resign or be fired. Kem accused Acheson of having "blundered into war" and then tying Gen. MacArthur's hands in Korea.

An intense storm sweeping north through Virginia, began dumping a new thick blanket of snow across eastern areas that were buried under record snowfall a little less than a week ago.

As the storm picked up headway, Western Maryland reported four inches, West Virginia had up to eight inches, Virginia had snow west of the Blue Ridge mountains, and Central New York had a heavy fall.

The Weather Bureau, in a special bulletin, said the storm could cause from five to 10 inches of snow in Central Pennsylvania and in Central and Eastern New York except for the coast of New York where it was expected to be in the form of rain.

The big Ohio river was rising swiftly after heavy rains and a quick thaw. It was expected to push out of its banks in the upper Ohio valley by Tuesday morning.

Wheeling Braced For Flood

Wheeling, W. Va., braced for its worst flood since 1945. Several industries, including the Wheeling Steel Corp., began shutting down. The city was warned the big Ohio might rise nearly 14 feet to a stage of 45 feet by Tuesday noon.

East Liverpool, in Northeastern, O., expected the river to reach seven feet above its 32-foot flood stage. Several families were evacuated along the river.

Big and little rivers were rolling out of their banks in Pennsylvania, but colder weather was expected to check the rise.

Five Indicted For Contempt

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Three atomic scientists and two men described by a congressional committee as Communist organizers were indicted here today for contempt of Congress.

The scientists, who worked in the wartime radiation laboratory at the University of California, are Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz, 29; Irving Davis Fox, 30, and David Joseph Bohm, 33.

The others indicted are Steve Nelson, 47, described by the House Un-American Activities Committee as Communist Party organizer for Western Pennsylvania, and Marcel Scherer, 51, accused by the subcommittee of helping Nelson establish a Communist cell in the laboratory at Berkeley, Calif., where the scientists were employed.

The charges stemmed from the refusal of the five to answer questions put to them by the Un-American Activities Committee.

With the five new indictments, 24 persons have been indicted in recent weeks for refusing to answer the questions of various congressional committees.

Upon conviction, the maximum penalty is a year in jail and $1,000 fine on each count.

Snyder Predicts Pay-Price Curbs

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder predicted today that general wage-price controls will have to be invoked "to avoid damaging inflation."

But Alan Valentine, chief of the federal wage-price control agency, declined to be specific on timing when senators demanded to know what the administration plans to do about rising prices and wage problems.

Valentine indicated that the government has not yet mobilized a staff to carry out the controls even if it wished to do so.

Meanwhile, the Senate voted to begin debate at once on a bill extending federal rent control for two months beyond the present expiration date on Dec. 31.

In the House, hearings are now going forward on a separate bill to extend rent controls for the full 90-day period requested by President Truman. Under present law federal controls end Dec. 31 except where communities have acted to retain them.

Gls Get Cheaper Rail Rate During Holidays

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP)—The nation's railroads today voted to grant cheaper round trip coach fares to men in uniform during the coming holiday season.

The cut-rate for servicemen will be in effect between Dec. 15 and January 15. It applies only to railroad coach fares.

It was adopted at a meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association, which was attended by representatives of all the nation's passenger carrying railroads.

E. B. Padrick, chairman of the association, said servicemen in uniform can travel by coach at the rate of two cents a mile if they purchase tickets between Dec. 15 and Jan. 10. The tickets must be used no later than Jan. 15.

Bay Span May Not Stand Up McKeldin Quotes Engineers

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4. (AP)—Governor-elect Theodore R. McKeldin said today engineers have told him the big bridge Maryland is building across Chesapeake bay may not stand up under the battering of tides and ice.

McKeldin said he had been told the winter storm a week ago Saturday and Sunday did a lot more damage to bridge supports and piers than had been reported.

"I was told," he said, "that not only was the superstructure damaged, but that there was considerable damage to the underwater structure.

"That could be a serious matter indeed.

"When I become governor, I propose to re-examine completely the bridge situation for my own information."

McKeldin said he also is concerned lest the Korean war situation make it impossible to get enough steel to finish the bridge.

He pointed out that $40,000,000 worth of bonds for the bridge would have to be paid off as they mature even if it is not completed. The bridge is to be financed from its own tolls and those from Maryland's bridges across the Susquehanna at Havre De Grace and the Potomac at Newburg.

The first piece of superstructure for the bay bridge, from north of Annapolis to Kent island on the Eastern Shore, was put in place just before the storm. It is scheduled for completion late in 1951.

Woman's Body Cut Up, Placed In Suitcase

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—The nude body of a slim woman, neatly sliced into four parts, was found today crammed in two cheap suitcases and checked in a busy public locker room in Brooklyn.

A preliminary autopsy showed no marks of violence on the body beyond the actual butchering.

Authorities said the woman may have been poisoned or strangled.

A head, torso and arms—all connected—were found in a black imitation leather suitcase in locker 216 of the Long Island Railroad's Brooklyn station.

In adjoining locker 220, were the pelvis attached to the thighs, and the two legs severed just above the knee.

Emergency Talks To Resume Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee, after an emergency face-to-face conference, announced tonight their "determination" to understand each other's problems in meeting the fast darkening world crisis.

The American and British leaders reported this much progress in a "frank discussion" at the White House lasting one hour and 35 minutes. They reviewed "the general world situation in the light of developments in the Far East" where their troops are falling back before a horde of Chinese Communists.

A joint statement issued after the opening conference gave no hint as to the specific topics discussed. The Prime Minister and the President arranged to resume their extraordinary discussions aboard the President's yacht Williamsburg tomorrow after a 1 p. m. (EST) lunch.

Bradley Reviews War

The meeting was hurriedly summoned at Attlee's request six and a half hours after he landed here from London. He came to work out with Mr. Truman a joint approach to the grave problems ahead of the free world in meeting the suddenly expanded Communist aggression.

The only specific action mentioned in the brief statement was that Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the American Joint Chiefs of Staff, summarized the latest military developments in Korea during the meeting.

"The frank discussion which followed revealed the determination of Mr. Attlee and Mr. Truman to arrive at a mutual understanding of the serious problems faced by both the United Kingdom and the U. S. as well as by other members of the U. N.," the statement said adding:

"The common ground on which their governments base their foreign policy was fully revealed."

The conference had been scheduled to start tomorrow morning but the British leader, according to aides, felt the Chinese Communist onslaught in Korea made quick decisions imperative.

Hopes To Align Policies

Before the emergency talks began, Attlee pledged in a statement that Communist propagandists would never succeed in separating the British and American people. The aim of his mission, he said, is to align American and British policies so the two countries "can stand firm" against aggression.

As the meeting got under way, American officials told reporters the U. S. was determined to stand firm in its opposition to admitting Communist China to the U. N.

Nor will the American government, they said, give formal diplomatic recognition to the Chinese Communist regime as a "price" for stopping the Communist offensive against Gen. MacArthur's forces in Korea.

Margaret Truman Says She's Not Engaged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Margaret Truman, the President's daughter, isn't engaged.

She said so herself today at a news conference, when a reporter asked about rumors linking her name with Marvin Braverman, a Washington attorney and her frequent escort.

"I think Mr. Braverman is a very charming gentleman, but I never have been nor do I expect to be engaged to him," Miss Truman said.

AP Photographer Frank Noel Falls Into Reds' Hands

TOKYO, Dec. 4 (AP)—Frank Noel, Pulitzer prize-winning Associated Press photographer, has been captured by the Chinese Communists in Northeast Korea.

Noel, 45, was captured Friday night near Koto, six miles south of the Changjin reservoir, when he volunteered to take a jeep down a road which a cutoff U. S. Marine motor convoy was trying to traverse.

Capt. Michael Capraro, Marine public information officer from San Francisco, reported today that he saw the Chinese drag Noel away.

Additional confirmation came tonight from a First Marine Division spokesman. He said a marine who was captured with Noel had later escaped and brought back one of Noel's camera lenses. How he happened to get the lens was not clear, but Noel may have sent it back as a token or to save an expensive piece of equipment. He always carried a spare.

U. N. Assembly Asked To Judge Red China Move

Vague Peace Hopes Kept Alive By Lie

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Big Three western powers and three other Security Council members today asked the veto-free United Nations General Assembly to sit in judgment on Red China's intervention in Korea.

The move came in a telegram addressed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie by Britain, France, the United States, Norway, Cuba and Ecuador.

Next Move Delayed

It called the step urgent and important. Warren Austin, chief U. S. delegate, said the next move is being delayed for instructions from Washington where President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee were talking.

The instructions will cover submission of a memorandum promised by the six nations to explain the request for Assembly action. Austin said he expects the memorandum to be presented tomorrow. The Assembly's 14-nation steering committee then will consider putting the question on the Assembly program.

Russia vetoed last week a Security Council resolution, framed by the same six nations, calling for Red China to withdraw troops from Korea.

Conferences Stir Hopes

Vague peace hopes were stirred by weekend conferences between India's Sir Genegal N. Rau and Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, chief Chinese Communist spokesman. The hopes were kept alive when Lie invited the Chinese Communist, Rau, and representatives of four other countries to an informal dinner meeting at Lie's home tonight.

Besides Rau and the Chinese Communists, Lie invited Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain, Israel's Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett, Pakistan's Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafrullah Khan, and Sven Grafstrom of Sweden.

15 To 20 Persons Hurt In Bus-Car Collision

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 4 (AP) — A crowded Greyhound bus overturned near here late today as the driver swerved in a vain effort to avoid a collision. An estimated 15 to 20 persons were injured, one critically.

Most gravely hurt was Jane Helen Hatoher, 25, Tacoma, driver of the car involved in the collision with the northbound bus. She may not live.

Defense Dept. Denies Draft Figure "Blackout" Ordered

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Defense Department said today no "blackout" on figures on inductions and draft examinations had been ordered.

The department said it had no knowledge of any such order as the head of the New York City Selective Service, Col. Candler Cobb, said had been issued.

Cobb said such an order had been issued "in the interest of national security."

He said the blackout came on written orders from National Selective Service headquarters.

The Budget Bureau on Nov. 26 took preliminary steps toward restricting release of government statistical information where it "might endanger the national security."

All bureaus were asked to submit for Budget Bureau approval "any proposals for the publication of statistics which may involve questions of national security." The bureau's action was taken at President Truman's direction.

A draft official said Selective Service headquarters is uncertain what draft information may be subject to censorship under the White House order.

Pilots Report Airfield Taken Over By Reds

Million Chinese Push Southward

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 5 (AP) — The Allies quit Pyongyang today as spearheads of a mighty 1,000,000-man Chinese Red army threatened to outflank that onetime Korean Communist citadel.

It was quite possible the surging Red forces would recapture the former northern capital without firing a shot, reported AP Correspondent Tom Lambert.

Observation planes reported today the Reds had occupied Pyongyang airfield on the city's northeast outskirts.

U. S. Eighth Army sources said at midday that Red guerillas may have entered Pyongyang but there were no confirmed reports that the Reds had occupied the city.

The last American and South Korean troops north of the city of 300,000 withdrew shortly before Monday midnight. Their way was lighted by several large fires as material of military value went up in flames.

The British 29th Brigade covered the withdrawal of the Americans and South Koreans, then itself began moving south through Pyongyang's center across the ice-choked Taedong.

The Pyongyang airfield was abandoned shortly after midnight, reported Lambert.

He said withdrawal of all Allied forces was to have been completed shortly thereafter.

People Are Orderly

Lambert said that despite the disappearance of Korean police and the municipal government, the people of Pyongyang were orderly.

The Far East Air Force reported its planes killed 2,100 Reds in North Korea Monday pushing the last three-day total past 6,000.

There was little fighting on the northwest front in this darkest hour for United Nations arms since the North Korean Reds began the war June 25.

Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters that the pullback might go as deep south as Seoul, 125 air miles to the southeast. There a perimeter could be thrown around the Republic of Korea capital and the escape port of Inchon.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the retreating army, said a decision must be made soon whether to stand and fight or quit Korea altogether.

Whitehead reported that most military men in the field believed the Chinese were determined to destroy the Eighth Army. If Gen. Walker decides to stand and fight behind a curtain of air and artillery bombardment, his army will face odds no other American army ever has confronted.

Fighting Heavy In Northeast

On the isolated northeastern front, fighting was heavy and bloody. In sub-zero temperatures, Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond's trapped Tenth Corps—three U. S. divisions and two ROK divisions—battled for life over vast distances.

The corps was spread thin over

Senators Urge Action In Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Aroused Congress members today demanded swift action to deal with Red China in the Korean war crisis and attacked the Truman administration with renewed calls for the ouster of Secretary of State Acheson.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), newly returned from talks with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo, said MacArthur should be given immediate authority to hit Chinese Communist bases in Manchuria and called for the expulsion of Soviet Russia from the United Nations.

Sen. Chavez (D-NY) urged the United States to raise a 20,000,000-man "world army," trained and equipped as American soldiers, to battle Communism.

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) told the Senate the United States should wage all-out war in Korea—"strike with everything we have or evacuate and get out."

Stennis also declared—as did Knowland and several other lawmakers—that the time has come to throw Chinese Nationalist troops into the fight against the Reds. President Truman said last week it was hoped that keeping these troops out of the fight would avoid involvement in a world war.

Sen. Kem (R-Mo) and Malone (R-Nev) told the Senate that Secretary Acheson should resign or be fired. Kem accused Acheson of having "blundered into war" and then tying Gen. MacArthur's hands in Korea.

Case Of 11 Reds Argued Sedately

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The case of 11 Communist leaders convicted of conspiracy to "teach and advocate" the violent overthrow of the United States government was argued sedately today in the Supreme Court.

The four-hour debate—which revolved around the constitutionality of the so-called Smith Act—proceeded calmly in sharp contrast to the stormy New York trial before Federal District Judge Harold Medina.

Attorney Harry Sacher led off the attack of the convicted Communists on the legality of the law under which the 11 were given prison sentences of three and five years.

He called the Smith Act—which makes it a federal offense to "teach or advocate" the violent overthrow of the government—an "unabashed attempt" to suppress political ideals.

Sacher, who was sentenced to a six-month jail term for his conduct during the New York trial, presented his arguments in what at times was almost a half-whisper.

Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, seeking to knock down contentions that the 11 were convicted under an unconstitutional law, said the high tribunal, in previously upholding a similar New York state law, in effect had already passed on the legality of the Smith Act.

"The question is no longer open," the solicitor general said.

Pope Delays Retreat

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 4 (AP)— Because of the Holy Year, Pope Pius XII has postponed until January his usual end-of-the-year pontifical retreat, the Vatican said today. Usually the Pope and his court spend the last days of the year in spiritual devotions and all papal audiences are suspended.

Top Navy Scientists To Confer In Secret

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—The Navy will stage a hush-hush meeting of top scientists tomorrow to outline weapons research needs for the present Korean situation and for the long-range defense program.

The meeting, to be held at the Navy Ordnance Laboratory at nearby White Oak, Md., will be open only to a small group of scientists. They make up the Office of Naval Research's "Advisory Committee on Solid State Physics."

"Solid state" physics is that branch of the science which involves study of the behavior of solid materials under the influence of stress, heat, light, sound, electricity and magnetism.

Chopped into segments by hard-striking Reds, marines and soldiers succeeded in consolidating their forces after a bloody five-day battle near the Changjin reservoir.

The reassembled Americans remained isolated in the Hagaru vicinity however.

Some 40 B-26 light bombers Monday blasted a winding six-mile road between Hagaru and Koto along which Chinese are deployed to force the Americans to run a new gauntlet of fire.

Both Hagaru and Koto were under Red fire, while other Chinese troops moved in an arc within 15 miles of Hamhung itself.

China Repeats Demand

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP)—Communist China repeated demands tonight for a role in drawing up a Japanese peace treaty.

A statement by Foreign Minister Chou En Lai broadcast by the Peiping radio and recorded here said that Communist China "must take part in the preparing, drawing up and concluding a peace treaty with Japan."

Charles L. Yutzy, 705 Louisiana Avenue, died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted Saturday. He has been ill six months.

A native of Pennsylvania, Mr. Yutzy was a son of the late Samuel and Mary Lepley Yutzy. His wife, the former Miss Clara Hoffmeyer, died in 1926.

Mr. Yutzy retired about four years ago as a B. and O. mechanic. He was a member of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Surviving are seven daughters, Miss Marie Yutzy, at home; Mrs. Carl Vogel, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Paul Laign, Buchannon, W. Va.; Mrs. Lee Lanham, Riverdale, Md.; Mrs. Albert Kalbaugh, Park Heights; Mrs. James Martin, Annapolis, and Mrs. Clyde England, Bedford, Pa.; 15 grandchildren and one great granddaughter.

He leaves two brothers, Allen Yutzy, Meyersdale, Pa., and Daniel Yutzy, Hyndman, Pa., and five sisters Mrs. Louella Sipple, Meyersdale; Mrs. Ida Hershberger and Mrs. Emma Bender Grantsville; Mrs. Theodore B. Miller, Fostoria, Ohio, and Mrs. Robert Butchers, Lynn Haven, Fla.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Church. Burial will be in Union Cemetery, Meyersdale.

JOSEPH A. BROWN

A funeral mass was celebrated yesterday morning in Miami, Fla., for Joseph A. Brown, 70, formerly of Elkins, W. Va., who died Friday in Miami.

He operated motion picture theaters in the Pittsburgh area before moving to Portsmouth, Va., where he was engaged in the real estate business until his retirement four years ago, at which time he went to Miami to reside with a brother, Martin P. Brown.

Survivors include another brother, Judge John F. Brown, of Elkins, and two nieces, Mrs. Frank Florentine, Columbia Avenue, this city, and Mrs. A. L. Jenkins, Cleveland.

BARNES FUNERAL

A funeral service for Henry P. Barnes, 87, of 215 Reynolds Street, who died Sunday in Allegany County Infirmary, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at Fairview Christian Church with Rev. Walter M. Twigg officiating.

The body is at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis Lehman, 215 Reynolds Street, where it will remain until 1 p. m. tomorrow.

Interment will take place in Fairview Cemetery.

SULLIVAN INFANT

A funeral service for Charles Thomas Sullivan, four-months-old son of Charles and Josephine Metz Sullivan, who died Sunday at the home of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Metz, 112 Frederick Street, will be held at 2 p. m. today at the Stein Funeral Home. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

MRS. ETHEL L. WALLIS

Mrs. Ethel L. Wallis, 60, formerly of 445 North Centre Street, died yesterday in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg, after an illness of eight months.

Born March 16, 1890, she was a daughter of the late William H. and Clara A. Brant Hewitt. Mrs. Wallis had resided here 55 years.

Survivors include her husband, Otis Wallis; two sons, Emory H. Wallis, Boston, and Raymond O. Wallis, Vallejo, Calif.; a brother, Raymond H. Hewitt, this city, and three sisters, Mrs. John Edwards, Johnstown, Pa.; Mrs. Melvin F. Coffman, this city, and Mrs. W. E. Gattens, Frostburg.

The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home, where a service will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow with Rev. Bruce Shanholtz, pastor of the First Brethren Church, officiating. Burial will be in Zion Memorial Cemetery.

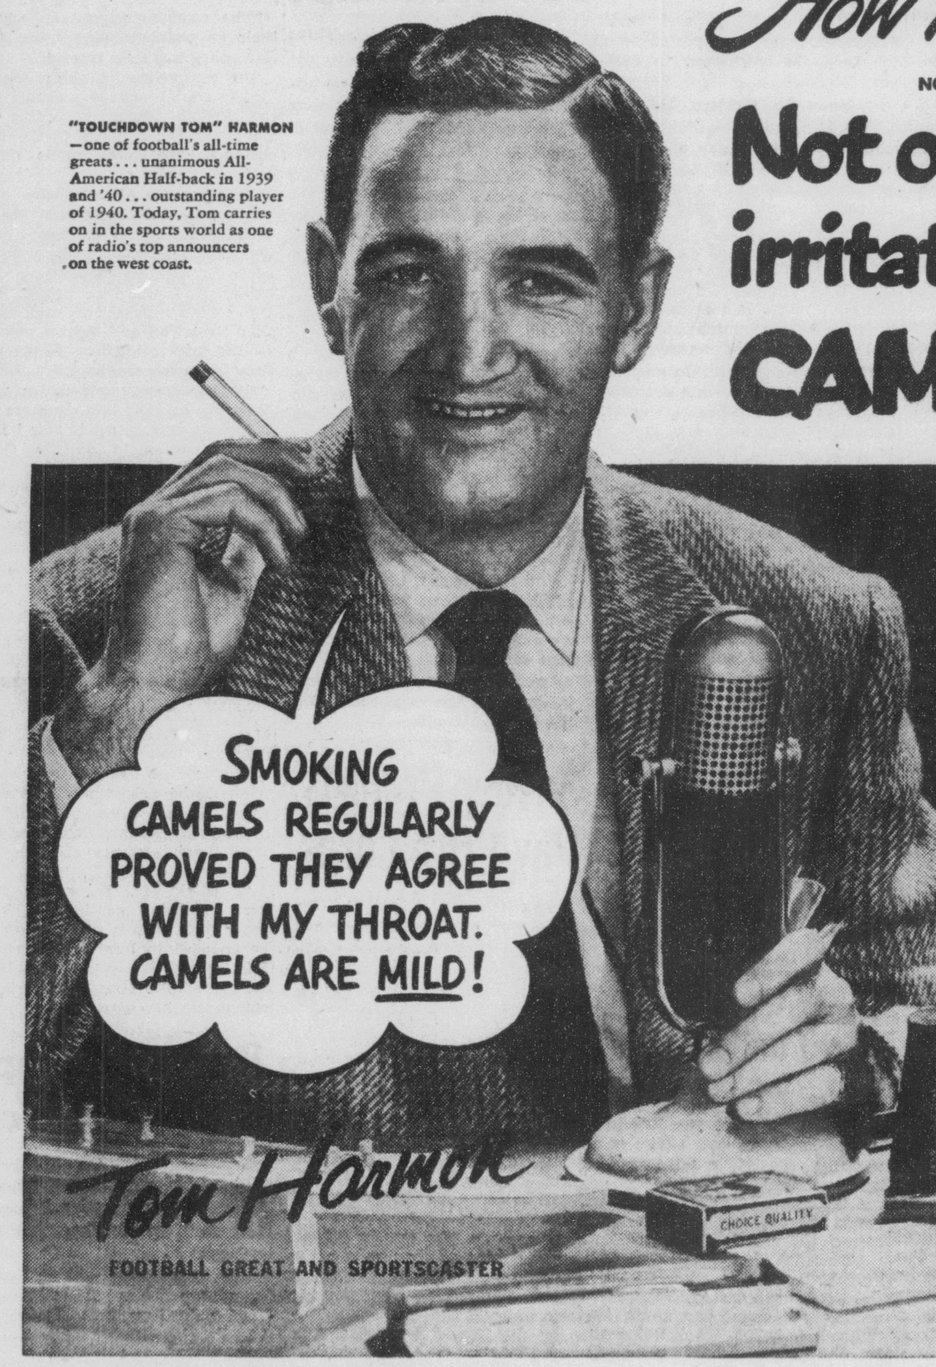
How MILD can a cigarette be?

NOTED THROAT SPECIALISTS REPORT ON 30-DAY TEST OF CAMEL SMOKERS...

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking CAMELS!

Yes, these were the findings of noted throat specialists after a total of 2,470 weekly examinations of the throats of hundreds of men and women who smoked Camels—and only Camels—for 30 consecutive days.

"TOUCHDOWN TOM" HARMON—one of football's all-time greats... unanimous All-American Half-back in 1939 and '40... outstanding player of 1940. Today, Tom carries on in the sports world as one of radio's top announcers on the west coast.



"Now that I broadcast games instead of playing them, my first thought is my voice. That's why I chose my cigarette for mildness. And before I did so, I made a sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test. It was fun—and convincing. I took my time—smoked Camels for 30 days. Not just one puff or one whiff ... no quick tricks. My test left no doubt. Cool, mild Camels for me!"

Russia The Real Enemy

While the United Nations backs and fills and provides Communist enemies of the United States a sounding board to hurl insults and propaganda—at the same time they are engaged in full scale espionage in the United States, of course—and the leftist prime minister of Great Britain flies to Washington to attempt to persuade the White House that things will work out all right if sufficient appeasement is extended to the Reds, the situation in which the United States finds itself grows worse by the hour.

Nation-wide concern over the plight of American boys in Korea, faced by hordes of Chinese Communists as numerous as ants, is mounting. Is this why the nation joined the UN, people are asking—to supply cannon fodder for wars in Asia? Is this to be the pattern of war against the Soviet Union? Must American boys do all the fighting and dying?

But while the backing and filling continues in Washington and at Lake Success, the Kremlin is in high glee. The Moscow boys feel they have Washington on the ropes and they intend to press their advantage on every front and with every resource at their command. And in Washington, capital of the land of the free, top officials stick doggedly to their pathetic pretense that the new war in Korea is a war between Chinese invaders and UN forces.

It is Moscow that sent Chinese forces into Korea and is reinforcing them daily. The invasion of South Korea by North Korean forces was ordered by Moscow. It is Russia that is the real enemy. But the ostriches in Washington will continue to pretend to the end that they cannot understand why the Chinese "agrarian reformers" act as they do.

No Walks For Truman

President Truman, often referred to as the world's most famous pedestrian, has been forced to give up his regular travels by foot from the executive residence to his office in the White House, a distance of 200 yards. He had been accustomed to making the round trip twice daily, while hundreds — mostly tourists — lined the sidewalks to see him.

Since the recent attempt on his life he is transported in a bullet-proof car, surrounded by dozens of police and capital guards, and no one is allowed to approach the official caravan.

Mr. Truman is the most heavily guarded of all Presidents. He contends daily walks are responsible for his continued good health, and hopes are expressed that restrictions may eventually be lessened.

Under the present arrangement, the official car must be brought around for the short journey, and the President enters the official residence through a rear door. When he attends a public function, the number of guards is increased to a point where he is all but surrounded by them.

UMT For Australia

Australia is considering compulsory military training for all men 18 and over. A bill to that effect has been introduced as part of the government program. The only exemptions form an odd combination: coal miners, students and conscientious objectors.

Australia was deeply alarmed by the Japanese aggression in World War II. Had it not been for the virorous support of the United States, Australia might well have been conquered by Japan. What Japan came near doing might, the Australians may now fear, be accomplished by Communist China with Russian aid.

Previously the Australians seem hardly to have realized how exposed is their position as regards the Orient. They insisted on maintaining such provocative legislation as an absolute ban against Oriental immigration, and an all but absolute prohibition of immigration of any kind. Only British were welcomed, and only those British who could meet severe economic tests. The Australians seem to have believed that a continent of nearly 3,000,000 square miles, almost the size of the United States, could be held unchallenged by fewer than 8,000,000 people, even though they were faced by an Orient bursting with surplus population.

The prospective adoption of peace-time conscription indicates that the Australians are awakening to the dangers of their position.

In The Nick Of Time

Who should make his appearance almost, that is —and it could not have been at a more fortuitous time, but Billy the Kid. Yep, the New Mexico baddie. Can Uncle Sam sure use him!

For 69 years history has recorded that Billy, a runt of 21 with 21 notches on his gun, who was born in the slums of New York, succumbed to lead poisoning at Fort Sumner, N. M., in 1881. Pat Garrett, sheriff of those parts, administered the lethal dose, according to the books.

Well sir, it seems it tweren't so — that Garrett merely wounded the little so-and-so and he escaped to Mexico, where he has been in hiding ever since. A firm of lawyers in El Paso—not averse to a little publicity, presumably—wants the governor of New Mexico to pardon the fugitive so he can come out of hiding.

Whose remains were buried instead of the bad boy's after Garrett threw on him remains to be revealed in a later chapter of the saga. When Jesse James reappeared two or three years ago, he had the details of whose corpse had been interred as that of his'n. Surely Billy Bonney, as the New Mexico hombre originally was called, isn't going to let the impression that Jesse has a better memory than Billy gain a foothold.

Brave Even To Rashness

The boldest man in the United States has been found. He is Charles James, a Hollywood dress designer. He has dared to say that American women are the worst dressed in the world, and that the money they have makes no difference.

What is the trouble? James says he believes it is chiefly because almost all women try to ape fashion, and he says they end in looking like poor copies of the real thing. "The woman on the street wants to look fashionable, but instead she looks seedy," says he. Another of his gems is: "Rich women are more often badly dressed than poor women. Women with money here all get the same thing. They look funny together."

When next heard from, James will probably be located in some place where irate American women cannot get at him.

If our American Communists were honest, they would admit that what they are working for is to have the United States become a satellite of Russia.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Upper Abdominal Pain

THE STOMACH, gall bladder, pancreas, and part of the large intestines are in the upper portion of the abdomen. Digestion is disturbed when something goes amiss with any of these structures. As a result of stomach ulcer, for example, pain may mimic gall bladder infection, a spastic bowel, or pancreatitis.

As a rule, X-ray takes the guesswork out of problems of this nature. After all, belching, nausea, vomiting, gaseous distention, and heartburn are too indefinite to implicate any one specific organ. Moreover, such symptoms often accompany overfatigue or apprehension. Therefore, when Mrs. Smith tells Dr. Jones that she has heartburn, he usually suggests X-rays.

Now and then the type of distress is more characteristic and occasionally is so typical it seems like a waste of money to have X-rays. As a rule, peptic ulcer pain is gnawing or burning and is located to the right and above the navel. Furthermore, it is related to food in that relief is noted after eating. Milk and alkalis do the same because they counteract stomach acidity. This sequence is an enlightening feature from the diagnostic standpoint but also may prove treacherous, especially when discomfort is slight. If a man neglects to seek medical care because he finds that a snack or a teaspoonful of baking soda eases symptoms, complications may arise unless spontaneous healing occurs.

Discomfort from the gall bladder usually is on the right of the midline, just beneath the ribs. It often is associated with sour eructations, gas, and flatulence. It too may be related to food in that it develops after eating rather than before. Fatty dishes, cabbage, and pork are inclined to bring it on. Gall bladder colic is much more painful and implies that a stone is moving. The episode is severe and agonizing; the victim squirms and twists in an effort to find a comfortable position. Now and then pain radiates to the back so that it is just as annoying there as in front. It comes and goes like labor pains until the stone passes.

The pancreas lies just below the stomach and opens into the intestine at the same place as the tube that leads from the liver and gall bladder. Pain from acute inflammation of this organ is shocking. It generally is sudden and excruciating, is felt in the region of the navel, and often extends into the back. Most victims are pale and the skin is cold and clammy. A less violent and more chronic infection is not so dramatic. It may radiate to the back and frequently is associated with weight loss and fermenting stools. The X-ray is not as helpful in diagnosis as are certain blood tests. Pancreatitis is serious because the disease is not as amenable to treatment as other intestinal disorders.

TOMORROW: Keep your cold germs to yourself.

GREASE AND ALCOHOL

C. W. H. writes: Will eating a lot of greasy food before drinking a lot of liquor cause an ulcerated stomach?

REPLY

Not necessarily. If anything, the grease is likely to coat the lining of the stomach temporarily and delay absorption of the alcohol. In this respect it has a beneficial rather than detrimental effect.

•—•—•

PERSISTENT PAIN

H. G. writes: Is it the nature of sciatica to hang on?

REPLY

Yes, especially when the cause is not eradicated. Sciatica refers to pain along the sciatic nerve that goes down the back of the leg. In many instances, the fibres are being pinched by a lesion in the spine, such as arthritis or slipped disc. Unless the abnormality is rectified, discomfort is likely to persist.

•—•—•

PIGMENTED AREAS

Mrs. L. writes: What is the mask of pregnancy?

REPLY

Now and then, brownish discolorations appear during pregnancy. When the pigmented areas appear on the cheeks, over the nose, and on the forehead the condition is sometimes called the mask of pregnancy. In most instances, this increased pigmentation disappears after the baby is born.

•—•—•

WEIGHT VITAMIN

M. B. writes: Is there a putting on weight vitamin?

REPLY

No, unless you refer to the vitamin B complex that is advised now and then for this purpose. It has a tonic effect and improves the feeling of well being which in turn increases appetite.

•—•—•

TYPE CAN'T CHANGE

Mrs. E. writes: In my first pregnancy I was Rh negative; in my second, Rh positive. What could cause this change?

REPLY

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Attlee Under Pressure To Pull Out Of Korea; British Parties Oppose Use Of A-Bomb; Senate Rebuffs To Latin American Come Home To Roost

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It was partly a fluke that led to the Attlee-Truman conversation—one of the most important conferences since Potsdam. Regardless of the accidental inception, however, diplomats agree that the conversation has long been needed to bring greater synchronization of traditional British-American friendship.

The fluke was the President's off-the-cuff statement that we were considering dropping the atomic bomb and the inference that General MacArthur had been given a free hand as to when we should drop it.

This statement, made at a morning White House press conference, hit the British House of Commons late in the afternoon and left British Labor leaders gasping. They have had increasing misgivings about MacArthur, and were fully aware of the manner in which he had maneuvered around State department proposals to keep U.N. armies away from the Chinese dams and the Manchurian border.

British Labor leaders did not then know that the President had made his atom-bomb statement in reply to oral newspaper queries and that it was not a carefully considered statement. Finally, they did not know that the President was in the process of issuing a clarifying statement—which came three hours later.

British Labor Rebels

By accident, it happened that the Truman A-bomb statement hit the House of Commons during a major foreign policy debate, with 63 Labor members led by Tom Driberg and Ian Mikardo, of Labor's national executive body, proposing high level conferences between the East and West before taking any further decisions on Korea.

Simultaneously came a speech by Anthony Eden demanding conferences between London and Washington, plus a Lodon Daily Mail editorial goading Attlee with the taunt that Churchill would have been half-way across the Atlantic were he prime minister.

It was in this atmosphere of extreme criticism from both Conservatives and Labor that Prime Minister Attlee was shown the first Truman statement indicating that the dropping of the A-bomb was up to MacArthur. At this, about 100 Conservative members of Parliament left the chamber and signed a petition to Churchill stating that if the United States dropped the bomb Britain should pull out of Korea.

These are some of the factors behind Attlee's trip which he wanted to put before Truman.

NOTE — Three hours after the first Truman statement on the A-bomb, came a clarifying White House statement that under the law only the President can authorize use of the atomic bomb and that no such authorization had been given to MacArthur.

Coffee and Defense

It may seem a long way between a coffee investigation staged by a senator from Iowa and this country's preparedness for war; yet there's a connection just the same.

The Senate investigation, staged by silver-crested, likeable Guy Gillette of Iowa, delved into increased coffee prices and speculation. Insofar as it dealt with coffee manipulation by the big chain grocery stores and the New York commodity market, the probe was justified. However, when it blamed Latin American coffee growers for price increases, it was like blaming Iowa corn farmers for the increased price of corn.

Thus the injustice of Gillette's probe, which made headlines in Latin America, was the biggest break the Communists ever had south of the Rio Grande. It also turned millions of hitherto friendly Latinos very sour indeed. Because Latin American coffee growers, like the farmer of Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, had suffered extremely lean years prior to the war. And the chief reason for increased coffee prices was identical with the reason for the increased price of American meat, corn, wheat and cotton — namely, that the world is consuming more.

Anyway, the State department, aghast at the harm done our good neighbor policy by the Gillette coffee probe, placed all the facts before the Senate committee. Forthright Assistant Secretary Edward Miller warned that Gillette was playing into Communist hands, while farsighted Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico did his best to put the quietus on his colleague from Iowa.

We Need Latin America

But Gillette was stubborn. He had the support of "Cotton Elmer" Thomas of Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and he stood pat. What Gillette didn't figure on, however, was that Washington Merry-Go-Round exposures of Thomas's speculation in cotton, lard and eggs would defeat him at the polls.

Now that Thomas has been defeated, Senator Gillette is without a friendly committee chairman, and new Chairman Ellender of Louisiana plans to abolish the coffee-probe committee.

However, here is the unpleasant pay-off. The effect of the furore Gillette stirred up in Latin America is now coming back to slap us in the face, following the bad news from Korea and Indo-China.

Desperately short of manganese, we have turned to Brazil, which has the biggest manganese deposits in the Americas. But Brazil also happens to be the biggest coffee grower and is still smarting from the unfair accusations of the Gillette committee. Though she is now helping us out on manganese, it is not with the same enthusiasm as in the last war.

Meanwhile, manganese is getting so short that refrigerators, automobiles, other civilian products are almost certain to be curtailed because of dwindling steel.

Other strategic materials are also involved — materials which Latin America has and which we are going to need vitally in case of all-out war. All of which is why the American people—instead of throwing brickbats, as did Senator Gillette—need to get back to working at the good neighbor policy.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Who Failed?

EVERY American, in and out of public life, is asking who is responsible for the disastrous intelligence failure which has now led to military disaster in Korea. The answer is simple. The whole responsibility belongs to General Douglas MacArthur's own intelligence organization, headed by one of the little circle of high staff officers who have been with MacArthur since Bataan, Major General Charles A. Willoughby.

This would not be so, if General MacArthur were subject to normal rules. In a normal war theater, agent nets and other machinery for gathering and processing intelligence belong to the national intelligence organization, the CIA. In a normal theater, by the same token, the theater G-2 is primarily responsible for military interpretation of the intelligence thus obtained, and has only the most limited responsibility for intelligence collection.

Even during the second world war, however, when this pattern was becoming established in other theaters, General MacArthur showed sharp dislike for it. Indeed, he actually banned the CIA's wartime predecessor, the Office of Strategic Services, from operating in his Pacific theater. Postwar, he continued to maintain the same ban until this spring, when the CIA was at last permitted to get its toe in the door. Even then, moreover, the unusual concession was demanded and granted, that the local representatives of the CIA should be placed under the operational control of General Willoughby, as theater G-2.

Had Good Intelligence

This arrangement remained in force after the Korean war broke out, until after the Inchon landing operation. The bold and brilliant stroke at Inchon was the best proof that a great military commander like MacArthur can work real miracles with good intelligence. Inchon would hardly have been possible without solid detailed information about the weakness of the enemy defenses; and MacArthur himself congratulated the CIA representatives on their part in securing this information.

For some occult reason, however, trouble followed almost at once. Not very long after the Inchon landing, the arrangement made in the spring was suddenly upset. The old ban on the CIA was again inforced.

The whole task of gathering and processing intelligence, as well as interpreting the intelligence for the theater commander and for Washington, once more reverted to General Willoughby's organization, where the entire responsibility still remains.

Rather transparent attempts are now being made to suggest that the intelligence thus provided was not really so bad after all. It is hinted, in one breath, that our plans in Korea only miscarried because of the interdict on air operations beyond the Chinese border (which General MacArthur of course knew all about long before he gave the recent order to attack). In the next breath, it is also stated that the true intention of the "home by Christmas" offensive was only to blunt an expected Chinese onslaught. This is demonstrable nonsense.

Taken By Surprise

As early as late September, General MacArthur had been positively convinced that the Chinese would not intervene in Korea. At Wake Island, he expressed this conviction most forcibly to the President, only a few days before the Chinese crossed the border. The sudden appearance of Chinese troops in combat in October very evidently took our divisions in Korea wholly by surprise. And even thereafter, the authorities in Tokyo clearly believed that the Chinese intervention was essentially unimportant, inspiring many stories about the small numbers of Chinese troops in Korea and their demoralization by American firepower.

Finally, no general in his senses would have hurled our thin lines of men, with a great gap in the center, against an enemy whom he did not confidently regard as weak and

U. S. Public Opinion Will Decide Future Diplomacy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The man on the street will decide the next moves in world diplomacy—which is but another way of saying American public opinion rather than European public opinion will be decisive.

The situation with all that it implies so far as a large-scale or limited war is concerned can best be outlined by imagining the following conversation between President Truman and Clement Attlee, prime minister of Great Britain, who also reflects the view of the French government:

"ATTLEE: I have come to suggest that we consider a plan to arrange an immediate armistice so that both sides will stop fighting while peace is negotiated.

"TRUMAN: The U. N. already has before it a resolution asking that the Chinese Communists withdraw their forces from North Korea. India has tried to bring a cease-fire agreement before but it has failed. If the opposing troops cease firing and advancing we will agree to do so too during the period of discussion. But supposing the Chinese Communist authorities do no agree?

"ATTLEE: Then I propose that the U. N. offer publicly to create at once a buffer zone in North Korea within which neither side would maintain troops of occupation.

Insist Americans Leave

"TRUMAN: I understand feelers of that kind have been made known to the Chinese Communists during the last few weeks but they insist that all American troops leave Korea at once.

"ATTLEE: Maybe they will agree now to let that wait for a complete agreement on peace terms.

"TRUMAN: Meanwhile, our forces in North Korea are being confronted by huge armies of Communist Chinese. If there is no cease-fire order we must keep on protecting our forces by any military means we have at our disposal.

"ATTLEE: Do you mean using the atom bomb?

"TRUMAN: That will depend on the military advice we receive as to what can be done by the use of that weapon.

"ATTLEE: But we in Europe do not want the atom bomb used because Russia may begin to drop atom bombs on us.

"TRUMAN: We might agree to consult with you before the atom bomb is used but bear in mind that we cannot be in a position of discussing this question when we have an accute emergency on our hands. If any other country drops a bomb on us, we must be ready to retaliate instantly without waiting for diplomatic exchanges or discussion with other governments. The cities of the United States are as vulnerable to atom-bomb attack as are the European cities.

"ATTLEE: We believe the atom bomb should be used only as a last resort.

"TRUMAN: I agree and if practicable our government will consult with yours and other governments before we go that far—but only if practicable, because events may force an instant decision on our part.

"ATTLEE: We believe also that you should not get into a large-scale war with China.

"TRUMAN: What do you propose?

"ATTLEE: That the U. N. attempt to settle the Korean business as gracefully as it can by negotiating peace.

"TRUMAN: Would your public opinion have sanctioned such a proposal to Hitler in June 1940 when your troops were evacuating Dunkirk? What you propose will be construed as a surrender by us of the Far East to Russia. Doesn't it mean that Japan will be threatened next and perhaps the Philippines?

"ATTLEE: These risks have to be taken because Europe is the most important front.

"TRUMAN: Both Asia and Europe are important. Don't forget that if Japan is lost to us and the Communist power is built up in Northeast Asia, then Alaska is threatened, too.

"ATTLEE: We realize the global nature of the problem but we still feel that you should conserve your energies mostly for use in protecting Europe—that is, the principal armament emphasis should be on Europe.

Risks Isolationism

"TRUMAN: To forfeit our position in Asia and to concentrate wholly on Europe may cause many Americans to think that if we get out of Asia we should get out of Europe, too. It's a risky philosophy and could revive isolationism. In World War II we managed to maintain ourselves in both the Pacific and the Atlantic. With the wholehearted help of European countries we should be able to do both again. We are fighting for survival and our own security as much in Korea as we would be in Europe.

"ATTLEE: Then you mean to go ahead and fight it out?

"TRUMAN: If the Chinese Communist authorities refuse to stop their attack on us, we have no alternative. We must protect our troops in the Far East and press the war against those who have made war on us.

"ATTLEE: I hope the Chinese Communists will listen to reason.

"TRUMAN: I hope so, too.

"ATTLEE: The crux of this thing is Moscow. Can't we get together for a discussion with Stalin?

"TRUMAN: Certainly, anywhere and any time—and I'll be glad to send a top commission of Americans of the highest calibre to talk things over with Stalin or anybody else he designates.

"ATTLEE: So it's really up to the other side?

"TRUMAN: Yes, it has been that way all along."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Dean Acheson

I never understood Dean Acheson until I saw him on television last week.

The atmosphere of the day was tense. Americans were being killed—maybe your son. The newspaper headlines spoke of a possible Dunkirk. Nervously, we were asking why General Douglas MacArthur was not being permitted to take a real offensive position. I was actually in the company of a distinguished American soldier. Like millions of other Americans, we were waiting for word of hope. And we were frightened.

There sat Acheson, cold and aloof, a voice untampered by emotion, a face untouched by anxiety; he read a rigidly scholarly, a meticulously prepared objective study of a policy that died in the hills of Korea on June 25, 1950.

Bombs were exploding! Blood discolored Korean snow. MacArthur was fighting to save his men. Mothers were worried about conscription and mobilization. Stuart Symington was speaking of economic stresses.

Dean Acheson droned away, apparently unconscious of all this. He had written a learned document. He had written for the record and for posterity. No commas were out of place. No subjunctive was out of order. No clause had been left hanging. Here was the perfection of grammar, but not an inspiration in the thousands of words, not one enthusiasm.

Here sat an Englishman—a middle-class Englishman who had worked his way into the aristocracy, dressed as only a London tailor could turn out a gentleman. He was perfection itself.

Here sat an objective scholor writing history for the archives, like an ancient mandarin preparing an eight-legged essay. Here sat an archeologist looking in the sands for a specimen of a forgotten civilization and a lost world. Here sat a professor of Indo-Aryan languages worring about how differently the tongues of man described the cow.

It was frigid, aloof, distant, objective. It was the tone and manner of the superior intellect, forced by the vulgar circumstances of life to speak to those who ought to listen but who never, never could understand the world of great affairs in which only such as he could move.

Television does things to men that the radio never could do. It brings out personality in gesture, in stance, in posture, in voice. On Television, Dean Acheson seemed to be a decorated icicle to whom nothing mattered but the written word—his own written word to be enjoyed only by the writer for whose sake it was written.

In our present crisis, this is not sufficient for national leadership. If, for any reason, Mr. Truman must keep Mr. Acheson, would it not be wise for him to have a consultative body whose experience and wisdom would aid him in forming decisions in critical matters? Certainly, it does not do for the President of the United States to give the impression in the morning, by whatever language, that he will or might or is considering the use of the A-bomb, and in the afternoon to revise his statement to conform to the law.

Such a consultative body as this would strengthen the President and rewin the confidence of our people: Herbert Hoover, Bernard Baruch, Senator Walter F. George, Senator Robert A. Taft, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, James F. Byrnes, General Albert C. Wedemeyer, Representative Christian Herter, and Representative John W. McCormack.

Some of these suggestions are obvious; others require some explanation. James Byrnes was at Potsdam and was practically pushed out of office by Dean Acheson. He ended his cabinet career utterly disillusioned about the Russians and has since become a leader of the Southern Democrats. These Southerners are more antagonistic to the current management of our foreign policy than most Republicans. The President would do well to recognize their views from someone whose mind is more responsive than Senator Tom Connally's.

General Albert Wedemeyer's reports on China and Korea stand up. They establish beyond doubt his ability to study, analyze and judge this situation. Because his report displeased Dean Acheson, Wedemeyer was exiled to the Presidio in California. His advice and counsel is needed — perhaps more than anybody else on this list.

Similarly among Republican members of Congress, Christian Herter of Massachusetts is particularly able and well-informed on international relations. In the current crises, such a man could be invaluable to the President.

As matters stand now, the President can depend only on his secretary of state, whose concepts have been proved to be disastrously wrong by the course of events.

Russia The Real Enemy

While the United Nations backs and fills and provides Communist enemies of the United States a sounding board to hurl insults and propaganda—at the same time they are engaged in full scale espionage in the United States, of course—and the leftist prime minister of Great Britain flies to Washington to attempt to persuade the White House that things will work out all right if sufficient appeasement is extended to the Reds, the situation in which the United States finds itself grows worse by the hour.

Nation-wide concern over the plight of American boys in Korea, faced by hordes of Chinese Communists as numerous as ants, is mounting. Is this why the nation joined the UN, people are asking—to supply cannon fodder for wars in Asia? Is this to be the pattern of war against the Soviet Union? Must American boys do all the fighting and dying?

But while the backing and filling continues in Washington and at Lake Success, the Kremlin is in high glee. The Moscow boys feel they have Washington on the ropes and they intend to press their advantage on every front and with every resource at their command. And in Washington, capital of the land of the free, top officials stick doggedly to their pathetic pretense that the new war in Korea is a war between Chinese invaders and UN forces.

It is Moscow that sent Chinese forces into Korea and is reinforcing them daily. The invasion of South Korea by North Korean forces was ordered by Moscow. It is Russia that is the real enemy. But the ostriches in Washington will continue to pretend to the end that they cannot understand why the Chinese "agrarian reformers" act as they do.

No Walks For Truman

President Truman, often referred to as the world's most famous pedestrian, has been forced to give up his regular travels by foot from the executive residence to his office in the White House, a distance of 200 yards. He had been accustomed to making the round trip twice daily, while hundreds — mostly tourists — lined the sidewalks to see him.

Since the recent attempt on his life he is transported in a bullet-proof car, surrounded by dozens of police and capital guards, and no one is allowed to approach the official caravan.

Mr. Truman is the most heavily guarded of all Presidents. He contends daily walks are responsible for his continued good health, and hopes are expressed that restrictions may eventually be lessened.

Under the present arrangement, the official car must be brought around for the short journey, and the President enters the official residence through a rear door. When he attends a public function, the number of guards is increased to a point where he is all but surrounded by them.

UMT For Australia

Australia is considering compulsory military training for all men 18 and over. A bill to that effect has been introduced as part of the government program. The only exemptions form an odd combination: coal miners, students and conscientious objectors.

Australia was deeply alarmed by the Japanese aggression in World War II. Had it not been for the virorous support of the United States, Australia might well have been conquered by Japan. What Japan came near doing might, the Australians may now fear, be accomplished by Communist China with Russian aid.

Previously the Australians seem hardly to have realized how exposed is their position as regards the Orient. They insisted on maintaining such provocative legislation as an absolute ban against Oriental immigration, and an all but absolute prohibition of immigration of any kind. Only British were welcomed, and only those British who could meet severe economic tests. The Australians seem to have believed that a continent of nearly 3,000,000 square miles, almost the size of the United States, could be held unchallenged by fewer than 8,000,000 people, even though they were faced by an Orient bursting with surplus population.

The prospective adoption of peace-time conscription indicates that the Australians are awakening to the dangers of their position.

In The Nick Of Time

Who should make his appearance almost, that is —and it could not have been at a more fortuitous time, but Billy the Kid. Yep, the New Mexico baddie. Can Uncle Sam sure use him!

For 69 years history has recorded that Billy, a runt of 21 with 21 notches on his gun, who was born in the slums of New York, succumbed to lead poisoning at Fort Sumner, N. M., in 1881. Pat Garrett, sheriff of those parts, administered the lethal dose, according to the books.

Well sir, it seems it tweren't so — that Garrett merely wounded the little so-and-so and he escaped to Mexico, where he has been in hiding ever since. A firm of lawyers in El Paso—not averse to a little publicity, presumably—wants the governor of New Mexico to pardon the fugitive so he can come out of hiding.

Whose remains were buried instead of the bad boy's after Garrett threw on him remains to be revealed in a later chapter of the saga. When Jesse James reappeared two or three years ago, he had the details of whose corpse had been interred as that of his'n. Surely Billy Bonney, as the New Mexico hombre originally was called, isn't going to let the impression that Jesse has a better memory than Billy gain a foothold.

Brave Even To Rashness

The boldest man in the United States has been found. He is Charles James, a Hollywood dress designer. He has dared to say that American women are the worst dressed in the world, and that the money they have makes no difference.

What is the trouble? James says he believes it is chiefly because almost all women try to ape fashion, and he says they end in looking like poor copies of the real thing. "The woman on the street wants to look fashionable, but instead she looks seedy," says he. Another of his gems is: "Rich women are more often badly dressed than poor women. Women with money here all get the same thing. They look funny together."

When next heard from, James will probably be located in some place where irate American women cannot get at him.

If our American Communists were honest, they would admit that what they are working for is to have the United States become a satellite of Russia.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Upper Abdominal Pain

THE STOMACH, gall bladder, pancreas, and part of the large intestines are in the upper portion of the abdomen. Digestion is disturbed when something goes amiss with any of these structures. As a result of stomach ulcer, for example, pain may mimic gall bladder infection, a spastic bowel, or pancreatitis.

As a rule, X-ray takes the guesswork out of problems of this nature. After all, belching, nausea, vomiting, gaseous distention, and heartburn are too indefinite to implicate any one specific organ. Moreover, such symptoms often accompany overfatigue or apprehension. Therefore, when Mrs. Smith tells Dr. Jones that she has heartburn, he usually suggests X-rays.

Now and then the type of distress is more characteristic and occasionally is so typical it seems like a waste of money to have X-rays. As a rule, peptic ulcer pain is gnawing or burning and is located to the right and above the navel. Furthermore, it is related to food in that relief is noted after eating. Milk and alkalis do the same because they counteract stomach acidity. This sequence is an enlightening feature from the diagnostic standpoint but also may prove treacherous, especially when discomfort is slight. If a man neglects to seek medical care because he finds that a snack or a teaspoonful of baking soda eases symptoms, complications may arise unless spontaneous healing occurs.

Discomfort from the gall bladder usually is on the right of the midline, just beneath the ribs. It often is associated with sour eructations, gas, and flatulence. It too may be related to food in that it develops after eating rather than before. Fatty dishes, cabbage, and pork are inclined to bring it on. Gall bladder colic is much more painful and implies that a stone is moving. The episode is severe and agonizing; the victim squirms and twists in an effort to find a comfortable position. Now and then pain radiates to the back so that it is just as annoying there as in front. It comes and goes like labor pains until the stone passes.

The pancreas lies just below the stomach and opens into the intestine at the same place as the tube that leads from the liver and gall bladder. Pain from acute inflammation of this organ is shocking. It generally is sudden and excruciating, is felt in the region of the navel, and often extends into the back. Most victims are pale and the skin is cold and clammy. A less violent and more chronic infection is not so dramatic. It may radiate to the back and frequently is associated with weight loss and fermenting stools. The X-ray is not as helpful in diagnosis as are certain blood tests. Pancreatitis is serious because the disease is not as amenable to treatment as other intestinal disorders.

TOMORROW: Keep your cold germs to yourself.

GREASE AND ALCOHOL

C. W. H. writes: Will eating a lot of greasy food before drinking a lot of liquor cause an ulcerated stomach?

REPLY

Not necessarily. If anything, the grease is likely to coat the lining of the stomach temporarily and delay absorption of the alcohol. In this respect it has a beneficial rather than detrimental effect.

●—●—●

PERSISTENT PAIN

H. G. writes: Is it the nature of sciatica to hang on?

REPLY

Yes, especially when the cause is not eradicated. Sciatica refers to pain along the sciatic nerve that goes down the back of the leg. In many instances, the fibres are being pinched by a lesion in the spine, such as arthritis or slipped disc. Unless the abnormality is rectified, discomfort is likely to persist.

●—●—●

PIGMENTED AREAS

Mrs. L. writes: What is the mask of pregnancy?

REPLY

Now and then, brownish discolorations appear during pregnancy. When the pigmented areas appear on the cheeks, over the nose, and on the forehead the condition is sometimes called the mask of pregnancy. In most instances, this increased pigmentation disappears after the baby is born.

●—●—●

WEIGHT VITAMIN

M. B. writes: Is there a putting on weight vitamin?

REPLY

No, unless you refer to the vitamin B complex that is advised now and then for this purpose. It has a tonic effect and improves the feeling of well being which in turn increases appetite.

●—●—●

TYPE CAN'T CHANGE

Mrs. E. writes: In my first pregnancy I was Rh negative; in my second, Rh positive. What could cause this change?

REPLY

A mistake in the laboratory. To my knowledge, the blood type never changes.

Attlee Under Pressure To Pull Out Of Korea; British Parties Oppose Use Of A-Bomb; Senate Rebuffs To Latin American Come Home To Roost

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It was partly a fluke that led to the Attlee-Truman conversation—one of the most important conferences since Potsdam. Regardless of the accidental inception, however, diplomats agree that the conversation has long been needed to bring greater synchronization of traditional British-American friendship.

The fluke was the President's off-the-cuff statement that we were considering dropping the atomic bomb and the inference that General MacArthur had been given a free hand as to when we should drop it.

This statement, made at a morning White House press conference, hit the British House of Commons late in the afternoon and left British Labor leaders gasping. They have had increasing misgivings about MacArthur, and were fully aware of the manner in which he had maneuvered around State department proposals to keep U.N. armies away from the Chinese dams and the Manchurian border.

British Labor leaders did not then know that the President had made his atom-bomb statement in reply to oral newspaper queries and that it was not a carefully considered statement. Finally, they did not know that the President was in the process of issuing a clarifying statement—which came three hours later.

British Labor Rebels

By accident, it happened that the Truman A-bomb statement hit the House of Commons during a major foreign policy debate, with 63 Labor members led by Tom Driberg and Ian Mikardo, of Labor's national executive body, proposing high level conferences between the East and West before taking any further decisions on Korea.

Simultaneously came a speech by Anthony Eden demanding conferences between London and Washington, plus a Lodon Daily Mail editorial goading Attlee with the taunt that Churchill would have been half-way across the Atlantic were he prime minister.

It was in this atmosphere of extreme criticism from both Conservatives and Labor that Prime Minister Attlee was shown the first Truman statement indicating that the dropping of the A-bomb was up to MacArthur. At this, about 100 Conservative members of Parliament left the chamber and signed a petition to Churchill stating that if the United States dropped the bomb Britain should pull out of Korea.

These are some of the factors behind Attlee's trip which he wanted to put before Truman.

NOTE — Three hours after the first Truman statement on the A-bomb, came a clarifying White House statement that under the law only the President can authorize use of the atomic bomb and that no such authorization had been given to MacArthur.

Coffee and Defense

It may seem a long way between a coffee investigation staged by a senator from Iowa and this country's preparedness for war; yet there's a connection just the same.

The Senate investigation, staged by silver-crested, likeable Guy Gillette of Iowa, delved into increased coffee prices and speculation. Insofar as it dealt with coffee manipulation by the big chain grocery stores and the New York commodity market, the probe was justified. However, when it blamed Latin American coffee growers for price increases, it was like blaming Iowa corn farmers for the increased price of corn.

Thus the injustice of Gillette's probe, which made headlines in Latin America, was the biggest break the Communists ever had south of the Rio Grande. It also turned millions of hitherto friendly Latinos very sour indeed. Because Latin American coffee growers, like the farmer of Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, had suffered extremely lean years prior to the war. And the chief reason for increased coffee prices was identical with the reason for the increased price of American meat, corn, wheat and cotton — namely, that the world is consuming more.

Anyway, the State department, aghast at the harm done our good neighbor policy by the Gillette coffee probe, placed all the facts before the Senate committee. Forthright Assistant Secretary Edward Miller warned that Gillette was playing into Communist hands, while farsighted Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico did his best to put the quietus on his colleague from Iowa.

We Need Latin America

But Gillette was stubborn. He had the support of "Cotton Elmer" Thomas of Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and he stood pat. What Gillette didn't figure on, however, was that Washington Merry-Go-Round exposures of Thomas's speculation in cotton, lard and eggs would defeat him at the polls.

Now that Thomas has been defeated, Senator Gillette is without a friendly committee chairman, and new Chairman Ellender of Louisiana plans to abolish the coffee-probe committee.

However, here is the unpleasant pay-off. The effect of the furore Gillette stirred up in Latin America is now coming back to slap us in the face, following the bad news from Korea and Indo-China.

Desperately short of manganese, we have turned to Brazil, which has the biggest manganese deposits in the Americas. But Brazil also happens to be the biggest coffee grower and is still smarting from the unfair accusations of the Gillette committee. Though she is now helping us out on manganese, it is not with the same enthusiasm as in the last war.

Meanwhile, manganese is getting so short that refrigerators, automobiles, other civilian products are almost certain to be curtailed because of dwindling steel.

Other strategic materials are also involved — materials which Latin America has and which we are going to need vitally in case of all-out war. All of which is why the American people—instead of throwing brickbats, as did Senator Gillette—need to get back to working at the good neighbor policy.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

Who Failed?

EVERY American, in and out of public life, is asking who is responsible for the disastrous intelligence failure which has now led to military disaster in Korea. The answer is simple. The whole responsibility belongs to General Douglas' MacArthur's own intelligence organization, headed by one of the little circle of high staff officers who have been with MacArthur since Bataan, Major General Charles A. Willoughby.

This would not be so, if General MacArthur were subject to normal rules. In a normal war theater, agent nets and other machinery for gathering and processing intelligence belong to the national intelligence organization, the CIA. In a normal theater, by the same token, the theater G-2 is primarily responsible for military interpretation of the intelligence thus obtained, and has only the most limited responsibility for intelligence collection.

Even during the second world war, however, when this pattern was becoming established in other theaters, General MacArthur showed sharp dislike for it. Indeed, he actually banned the CIA's wartime predecessor, the Office of Strategic Services, from operating in his Pacific theater. Postwar, he continued to maintain the same ban until this spring, when the CIA was at last permitted to get its toe in the door. Even then, moreover, the unusual concession was demanded and granted, that the local representatives of the CIA should be placed under the operational control of General Willoughby, as theater G-2.

Had Good Intelligence

This arrangement remained in force after the Korean war broke out, until after the Inchon landing operation. The bold and brilliant stroke at Inchon was the best proof that a great military commander like MacArthur can work real miracles with good intelligence. Inchon would hardly have been possible without solid detailed information about the weakness of the enemy defenses; and MacArthur himself congratulated the CIA representatives on their part in securing this information.

For some occult reason, however, trouble followed almost at once. Not very long after the Inchon landing, the arrangement made in the spring was suddenly upset. The old ban on the CIA was again inforced.

The whole task of gathering and processing intelligence, as well as interpreting the intelligence for the theater commander and for Washington, once more reverted to General Willoughby's organization, where the entire responsibility still remains.

Rather transparent attempts are now being made to suggest that the intelligence thus provided was not really so bad after all. It is hinted, in one breath, that our plans in Korea only miscarried because of the interdict on air operations beyond the Chinese border (which General MacArthur of course knew all about long before he gave the recent order to attack). In the next breath, it is also stated that the true intention of the "home by Christmas" offensive was only to blunt an expected Chinese onslaught. This is demonstrable nonsense.

Taken By Surprise

As early as late September, General MacArthur had been positively convinced that the Chinese would not intervene in Korea. At Wake Island, he expressed this conviction most forcibly to the President, only a few days before the Chinese crossed the border. The sudden appearance of Chinese troops in combat in October very evidently took our divisions in Korea wholly by surprise. And even thereafter, the authorities in Tokyo clearly believed that the Chinese intervention was essentially unimportant, inspiring many stories about the small numbers of Chinese troops in Korea and their demoralization by American firepower.

Finally, no general in his senses would have hurled our thin lines of men, with a great gap in the center, against an enemy whom he did not confidently regard as weak and

U. S. Public Opinion Will Decide Future Diplomacy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The man on the street will decide the next moves in world diplomacy—which is but another way of saying American public opinion rather than European public opinion will be decisive.

The situation with all that it implies so far as a large-scale or limited war is concerned can best be outlined by imagining the following conversation between President Truman and Clement Attlee, prime minister of Great Britain, who also reflects the view of the French government:

"ATTLEE: I have come to suggest that we consider a plan to arrange an immediate armistice so that both sides will stop fighting while peace is negotiated.

"TRUMAN: The U. N. already has before it a resolution asking that the Chinese Communists withdraw their forces from North Korea. India has tried to bring a cease-fire agreement before but it has failed. If the opposing troops cease firing and advancing we will agree to do so too during the period of discussion. But supposing the Chinese Communist authorities do no agree?

"ATTLEE: Then I propose that the U. N. offer publicly to create at once a buffer zone in North Korea within which neither side would maintain troops of occupation.

Insist Americans Leave

"TRUMAN: I understand feelers of that kind have been made known to the Chinese Communists during the last few weeks but they insist that all American troops leave Korea at once.

"ATTLEE: Maybe they will agree now to let that wait for a complete agreement on peace terms.

"TRUMAN: Meanwhile, our forces in North Korea are being confronted by huge armies of Communist Chinese. If there is no cease-fire order we must keep on protecting our forces by any military means we have at our disposal.

"ATTLEE: Do you mean using the atom bomb?

"TRUMAN: That will depend on the military advice we receive as to what can be done by the use of that weapon.

"ATTLEE: But we in Europe do not want the atom bomb used because Russia may begin to drop atom bombs on us.

"TRUMAN: We might agree to consult with you before the atom bomb is used but bear in mind that we cannot be in a position of discussing this question when we have an accute emergency on our hands. If any other country drops a bomb on us, we must be ready to retaliate instantly without waiting for diplomatic exchanges or discussion with other governments. The cities of the United States are as vulnerable to atom-bomb attack as are the European cities.

"ATTLEE: We believe the atom bomb should be used only as a last resort.

"TRUMAN: I agree and if practicable our government will consult with yours and other governments before we go that far—but only if practicable, because events may force an instant decision on our part.

"ATTLEE: We believe also that you should not get into a large-scale war with China.

"TRUMAN: What do you propose?

"ATTLEE: That the U. N. attempt to settle the Korean business as gracefully as it can by negotiating peace.

"TRUMAN: Would your public opinion have sanctioned such a proposal to Hitler in June 1940 when your troops were evacuating Dunkirk? What you propose will be construed as a surrender by us of the Far East to Russia. Doesn't it mean that Japan will be threatened next and perhaps the Philippines?

"ATTLEE: These risks have to be taken because Europe is the most important front.

"TRUMAN: Both Asia and Europe are important. Don't forget that if Japan is lost to us and the Communist power is built up in Northeast Asia, then Alaska is threatened, too.

"ATTLEE: We realize the global nature of the problem but we still feel that you should conserve your energies mostly for use in protecting Europe—that is, the principal armament emphasis should be on Europe.

Risks Isolationism

"TRUMAN: To forfeit our position in Asia and to concentrate wholly on Europe may cause many Americans to think that if we get out of Asia we should get out of Europe, too. It's a risky philosophy and could revive isolationism. In World War II we managed to maintain ourselves in both the Pacific and the Atlantic. With the wholehearted help of European countries we should be able to do both again. We are fighting for survival and our own security as much in Korea as we would be in Europe.

"ATTLEE: Then you mean to go ahead and fight it out?

"TRUMAN: If the Chinese Communist authorities refuse to stop their attack on us, we have no alternative. We must protect our troops in the Far East and press the war against those who have made war on us.

"ATTLEE: I hope the Chinese Communists will listen to reason.

"TRUMAN: I hope so, too.

"ATTLEE: The crux of this thing is Moscow. Can't we get together for a discussion with Stalin?

"TRUMAN: Certainly, anywhere and any time—and I'll be glad to send a top commission of Americans of the highest calibre to talk things over with Stalin or anybody else he designates.

"ATTLEE: So it's really up to the other side?

"TRUMAN: Yes, it has been that way all along."

The foregoing is imaginary but it conceivably could happen that the actual conversations this week would cover some of the same ground.

Some of these suggestions are obvious; others require some explanation. James Byrnes was at Potsdam and was practically pushed out of office by Dean Acheson. He ended his cabinet career utterly disillusioned about the Russians and has since become a leader of the Southern Democrats. These Southerners are more antagonistic to the current management of our foreign policy than most Republicans. The President would do well to recognize their views from someone whose mind is more responsive than Senator Tom Connally's.

General Albert Wedemeyer's reports on China and Korea stand up. They establish beyond doubt his ability to study, analyze and judge this situation. Because his report displeased Dean Acheson, Wedemeyer was exiled to the Presidio in California. His advice and counsel is needed — perhaps more than anybody else on this list.

Similarly among Republican members of Congress, Christian Herter of Massachusetts is particularly able and well-informed on international relations. In the current crises, such a man could be invaluable to the President.

As matters stand now, the President can depend only on his secretary of state, whose concepts have been proved to be disastrously wrong by the course of events.

Whitworth Set To Resign As Delegation Head

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., Westernport, a member of the Allegany county delegation to the House of Delegates, and chairman of the group for four years, announced today that he will resign as chairman in order to devote his full time to certain legislative matters in which he is especially interested.

Whitworth also announced that he would be a candidate at the January caucus of Republican members of the House of Delegates for the position of minority floor leader.

Jacob Ramsburg, of Frederick county, who was minority floor leader during the past two years, was elected a member of the Senate at the November 7 general election and this leaves the House position he held open.

Whitworth said he is mainly interested in legislation concerning the state budget, and in the event he is selected by the Republican members of the House as minority floor leader his position will be strengthened.

Delegate Charles M. See and Delegate Lester Reed are the oldest Allegany county representatives in point of service and they will probably receive first consideration as chairman of the delegation.

Whitworth was one of the leaders of a group which sought a more detailed account of budget items submitted by the University of Maryland during the session last winter.

A member of the Allegany County Bar Association, Whitworth is a veteran of World War II and served as an officer in the Navy.

Betty Lou Courtney Is Bride Of Cpl. J. M. McNeill

Ceremony Performed In Bride's Home

Miss Betty Lou Courtney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Courtney, 523 Memorial Avenue, became the bride of Cpl. Jack Markin McNeill, Camp LeJeunne, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. McNeill, 423 Columbia Street, Friday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. O. Afton Linger, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Miss Jeanette Jenkins was the bride's maid of honor and Benjamin McNeill served as his brother's best man.

The bride was attired in an aqua silk, street length dress with which she wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Her attendant wore a Navy blue dress with a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a senior at Fort Hill High School, where she is a member of the Fort Hill Players and the Tri-Hi-Y.

The bridegroom graduated from Allegany High School, class of 1949. Before entering the Marine Corps he was employed by Cooley's Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney entertained in compliment to their daughter and her bridal party, with an informal wedding reception, following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the wedding bells suspended above the refreshment table and repeated in the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. William Courtney and Mrs. Harold K. Ritter, daughter-in-law and daughter of the hosts assisted in serving.

Betty Lou Courtney Is Bride Of Cpl. J. M. McNeill

Ceremony Performed In Bride's Home

Miss Betty Lou Courtney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V. Courtney, 523 Memorial Avenue, became the bride of Cpl. Jack Markin McNeill, Camp LeJeunne, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton C. McNeill, 423 Columbia Street, Friday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. O. Afton Linger, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Miss Jeanette Jenkins was the bride's maid of honor and Benjamin McNeill served as his brother's best man.

The bride was attired in an aqua silk, street length dress with which she wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Her attendant wore a Navy blue dress with a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a senior at Fort Hill High School, where she is a member of the Fort Hill Players and the Tri-Hi-Y.

The bridegroom graduated from Allegany High School, class of 1949. Before entering the Marine Corps he was employed by Cooley's Drug Store.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney entertained in compliment to their daughter and her bridal party, with an informal wedding reception, following the ceremony. The bridal motif was carried out in the wedding bells suspended above the refreshment table and repeated in the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. William Courtney and Mrs. Harold K. Ritter, daughter-in-law and daughter of the hosts assisted in serving.

Frostburg Youth Among Wounded In Korean War

Davis Had Aided Wounded Marines

FROSTBURG—Navy Hospital Mate Third Class William P. Davis, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Davis, 142 Center Street, was wounded in action in Korea November 24, according to a telegram received by the parents from the Navy Personnel Department.

The telegram, received Saturday night, disclosed that the Frostburg youth was wounded while serving with the First Marine Division near the big reservoir on the Manchurian border.

Oddly, Mrs. Davis received a letter Sunday, dated November 20, from her son, in which he said that he was fine but that the weather was extremely cold. Davis informed his parents that the troops had warm, fur-lined clothing, but emphasied that it still was difficult to keep warm in 10-degree below zero weather.

In the letter Davis told his mother that he was with a Marine detachment on a Korean cliff, from which they could see the huge reservoir. He also said that he had been recommended for the Silver Star for his work in caring for wounded Marines.

A graduate of LaSalle High School, Cumberland, in June, 1948, Davis enlisted in the Navy a month later. He received his basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Ill., and was attached to the Navy Hospital staff in Annapolis before being assigned to overseas duty. The young man left San Diego, Calif., for overseas on August 14.

Midland Group To Hold Yule Party, Supper

Program Will Be Held December 14

MIDLAND—Myrtle Temple No. 2, Pythian Sisters, will hold its annual Christmas party on Thursday, December 14, in Red Men's Hall.

A covered dish supper will be held at 6 p. m., preceding the business session, when new officers will be nominated and elected.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Rhoda McKenzie, will include a jingle party, carol singing and exchange of gifts. Members having birthdays in October, November and December will be in charge of the supper.

A meeting of the supper committee will be held this Thursday at 7 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Marie Gray, Main Street.

Myrtle Temple presented a ceremony last Thursday in honor of the official visit of Mrs. Louella Shipley, Brunswick, grand chief of Maryland Pythian Sisters.

Other grand temple officers attending included Mrs. Louise Michael, Brunswick, past supreme representative; Mrs. Sally Schramm, Lonaconing, grand secretary; Mrs. Viola McGann, Midland, deputy grand chief; Mrs. Ruth Legeer, Frostburg, state press correspondent; Miss Edith Holder, Lonaconing, past supreme representative; and Mrs. Nellie Miller, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Pearl Blair, Midland, past grand chiefs.

Taking part in the ceremony were Mrs. Viola McGann, Mrs. Margaret Williams, Mrs. Virginia Blair, Mrs. Naomi Kroll, Mrs. Pearl Blair, Mrs. Edith Hutchinson, Mrs. Gladys Winebrenner, Mrs. Nancy Lease, Miss Eleanor Slingloff, Mrs. Anna Jenkins and Mrs. Catherine Stevens, pianist.

Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Fannie Kroll sang a duet. The grand chief was presented with a gift. Mrs. Margaret Williams presided at the business session.

The temple accepted an invitation to attend the 50th anniversary celebration of Morning Star Temple No 1, to be held Monday, December 11, at the Lonaconing Firemen's Armory. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Sigler and her committee.

Decoration Contest Planned In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va. — Citizens of Keyser are being asked to participate in a Christmas home decoration contest, sponsored by the Keyser Retail Bureau, according to Jacob Shear, chairman of the bureau's contest committee.

The committee plans to have judges, non-residents of Keyser, come here and visit every part of the city to pass on the decorated homes. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be offered. The judges will make their selections at an inspection trip through the city sometime between Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Frostburg Briefs

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Shaft Fire Department will meet this evening to make plans for the annual Christmas party. All members are asked to attend.

Mrs. Thomas W. Price, West Main Street and her daughter, Miss Sue Price, Baltimore, have returned after spending the Thanksgiving holidays in New Bedford, Mass., the guests of Mrs. Price's son-in-law and daughter, Major and Mrs. Philip Lanasa and family.

St. Mary's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church will meet in the parish house Wednesday, 8 p. m., for the annual jingle party.

Frostburg Elks Hear Finan Contrast Jefferson, Marx

FROSTBURG—Thomas B. Finan, past exalted ruler of the Cumberland Elks, addressed Frostburg Elks Lodge Sunday evening at its annual Memorial Service, contrasted democracy and communism.

He referred to Thomas Jefferson who at the age of 36 penned the Declaration of Independence, approved by Congress July 4, 1776. The sentence on which Finan based his remarks was:

"We hold these truths to be self evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among them are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—That to secure these, Governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

After extrolling the ideals as expressed in the American Declaration of Independence, Finan declared that Communism, which would take away the dignity of the individual, stemmed from the writings of Karl Marx in 1848, who supported the theory of the dictatorship of the prolateriat or Communism, in which the individual would lose his political and religious independence, thus becoming the slave of the State.

He traced the growth of Communism from the date of its inception 102 years ago until the present when it has become the controling force in a large part of the world and is now threatening the democracies. Finan urged that all liberty loving persons keep informed of current events and to be ready to make any sacrifice necessary to preserve the American way of life.

The eulogy was delivered by Milton Gerson, a member of Frostburg Lodge and a Cumberland attorney. Members who died during the past year were Joseph Freeland, Richard Goldsworthy and Sol Robson. Gerson presented a short biographical sketch of each.

The service was in charge of Wayne McAtee and the official staff of the lodge, consisting of John L. Clise, leading knight; William D. Davis, loyal knight; C. F. Raphann, acting lecturing knight; Arthur L. Kirby, chaplain; J. W. Shea, tiler; U. B. F. Edwards, esquire; Joseph Condon, acting secretary, and George E. Grahame, treasurer.

The program also included the invocation and benediction by Rev. Walter D. Mehrling and vocal numbers by Mrs. Carl Storm, soloist and a quartet consisting of Mrs. Storm, Mrs. Marvin Rice, Philip Krause and Benjamin Mehrling, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Ort, pianist.

Frostburg Plans Mexican Film

FROSTBURG—"Astride the Tropics," a technicolor travelogue on Mexico, filmed by Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction at Frostburg State Teachers College, will be presented in the college auditorium this evening, 8:15 o'clock, with Diehl as the commentator. He took the pictures on his sixth trip to Mexico.

The showing is being sponsored by the International Relations Club of the college to raise funds to cover the expenses of one or more delegates to the international convention to be held in Montreal next spring. The projection, the first since the films were developed, requires one hour for the showing, and the scenes will include the past and present glories of Mexico.

The International Relations Club of the college was organized several years ago to study other countries and their relations with each other. Faculty advisors include Hazel G. Ramsey and Dr. Howard L. Briggs.

Frostburg Youth Among Wounded In Korean War

FROSTBURG—Navy Hospital Mate Third Class William P. Davis, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Davis, 142 Center Street, was wounded in action in Korea November 24, according to a telegram received by the parents from the Navy Personnel Department.

The telegram, received Saturday night, disclosed that the Frostburg youth was wounded while serving with the First Marine Division near the big reservoir on the Manchurian border.

Oddly, Mrs. Davis received a letter Sunday, dated November 20, from her son, in which he said that he was fine but that the weather was extremely cold. Davis informed his parents that the troops had warm, fur-lined clothing but emphasied that it still was difficult to keep warm in 10-degree below zero weather.

In the letter Davis told his mother that he was with a Marine detachment on a Korean cliff, from which they could see the huge reservoir. He also said that he had been recommended for the Silver Star for his work in caring for wounded Marines.

A graduate of LaSalle High School, Cumberland, in June, 1948, Davis enlisted in the Navy a month later. He received his basic training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Ill., and was attached to the Navy Hospital staff in Annapolis before being assigned to overseas duty. The young man left San Diego, Calif., for overseas on August 14.

Midland Group To Hold Yule Party, Supper

Program Will Be Held December 14

MIDLAND—Myrtle Temple No. 2, Pythian Sisters, will hold its annual Christmas party on Thursday, December 14, in Red Men's Hall.

A covered dish supper will be held at 6 p. m., preceding the business session, when new officers will be nominated and elected.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Rhoda McKenzie, will include a jingle party, carol singing and exchange of gifts. Members having birthdays in October, November and December will be in charge of the supper.

A meeting of the supper committee will be held this Thursday at 7 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Marie Gray, Main Street.

Myrtle Temple presented a ceremony last Thursday in honor of the official visit of Mrs. Louella Shipley, Brunswick, grand chief of Maryland Pythian Sisters.

Other grand temple officers attending included Mrs. Louise Michael, Brunswick, past supreme representative; Mrs. Sally Schramm, Lonaconing, grand secretary; Mrs. Viola McGann, Midland, deputy grand chief; Mrs. Ruth Legeer, Frostburg, state press correspondent; Miss Edith Holder, Lonaconing, past supreme representative; and Mrs. Nellie Miller, Lonaconing, and Mrs. Pearl Blair, Midland, past grand chiefs.

Taking part in the ceremony were Mrs. Viola McGann, Mrs. Margaret Williams, Mrs. Virginia Blair, Mrs. Naomi Kroll, Mrs. Pearl Blair, Mrs. Edith Hutchinson, Mrs. Gladys Winebrenner, Mrs. Nancy Lease, Miss Eleanor Slingloff, Mrs. Anna Jenkins and Mrs. Catherine Stevens, pianist.

Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Fannie Kroll sang a duet. The grand chief was presented with a gift. Mrs. Margaret Williams presided at the business session.

The temple accepted an invitation to attend the 50th anniversary celebration of Morning Star Temple No 1, to be held Monday, December 11, at the Lonaconing Firemen's Armory. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ruth Sigler and her committee.

Decoration Contest Planned In Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va. — Citizens of Keyser are being asked to participate in a Christmas home decoration contest, sponsored by the Keyser Retail Bureau, according to Jacob Shear, chairman of the bureau's contest committee.

The committee plans to have judges, non-residents of Keyser, come here and visit every part of the city to pass on the decorated homes. Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be offered. The judges will make their selections at an inspection trip through the city sometime between Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Frostburg Briefs

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Shaft Fire Department will meet this evening to make plans for the annual Christmas party. All members are asked to attend.

Mrs. Thomas W. Price, West Main Street and her daughter, Miss Sue Price, Baltimore, have returned after spending the Thanksgiving holidays in New Bedford, Mass., the guests of Mrs. Price's son-in-law and daughter, Major and Mrs. Philip Lanasa and family.

St. Mary's Guild of St. John's Episcopal Church will meet in the parish house Wednesday, 8 p. m., for the annual jingle party.

Frostburg Elks Hear Finan Contrast Jefferson, Marx

FROSTBURG—Thomas B. Finan, past exalted ruler of the Cumberland Elks, addressed Frostburg Elks Lodge Sunday evening at its annual Memorial Service, contrasted democracy and communism.

He referred to Thomas Jefferson who at the age of 36 penned the Declaration of Independence, approved by Congress July 4, 1776. The sentence on which Finan based his remarks was:

"We hold these truths to be self evident that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among them are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness—That to secure these, Governments are instituted among men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

After extrolling the ideals as expressed in the American Declaration of Independence, Finan declared that Communism, which would take away the dignity of the individual, stemmed from the writings of Karl Marx in 1848, who supported the theory of the dictatorship of the prolateriat or Communism, in which the individual would lose his political and religious independence, thus becoming the slave of the State.

He traced the growth of Communism from the date of its inception 102 years ago until the present when it has become the controling force in a large part of the world and is now threatening the democracies. Finan urged that all liberty loving persons keep informed of current events and to be ready to make any sacrifice necessary to preserve the American way of life.

The eulogy was delivered by Milton Gerson, a member of Frostburg Lodge and a Cumberland attorney. Members who died during the past year were Joseph Freeland, Richard Goldsworthy and Sol Robson. Gerson presented a short biographical sketch of each.

The service was in charge of Wayne McAtee and the official staff of the lodge, consisting of John L. Clise, leading knight; William D. Davis, loyal knight; C. F. Raphann, acting lecturing knight; Arthur L. Kirby, chaplain; J. W. Shea, tiler; U. B. F. Edwards, esquire; Joseph Condon, acting secretary, and George E. Grahame, treasurer.

The program also included the invocation and benediction by Rev. Walter D. Mehrling and vocal numbers by Mrs. Carl Storm, soloist and a quartet consisting of Mrs. Storm, Mrs. Marvin Rice, Philip Krause and Benjamin Mehrling, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Ort, pianist.

Sgt. R. F. Ford Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

Accident Occurs Near Beaufort, S. C.

Cumberland Marine Sgt. Robert Felton Ford, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Ford, 517 Lowell Avenue, died late Sunday night as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Beaufort, S. C.

Sgt. Ford, scheduled for shipment overseas, had been stationed at Parris Island, S. C. The commanding officer sent a telegram to his parents here saying that he died at 5:45 p. m. but gave no details.

Sgt. Ford was accepted for duty in the Marine Corps in January, 1945, before his eighteenth birthday. However, he did not enter the service until two months later to comply with regulations. He served two years in North China and Guam after World War II.

Relatives said he attended Allegany High School, where he was a member of the band for three years, and worked for the C. and P. Telephone Company prior to entering the Marines. He last visited here during the Christmas holidays in 1949.

A letter received last week by his parents indicated that he "might be" sent overseas. Under normal conditions he would have been eligible for discharge in February, 1951, but the Korean situation made military changes necessary.

If sent overseas, Sgt. Ford wrote, he would attempt to obtain a 30-day furlough home before departure. He was a drill instructor at Parris Island.

Surviving, besides his parents, is a sister, Miss Ada Louise Ford, at home. His mother is the former Miss Mary Louise Felton.

The body will be brought to the Hafer Funeral Home with military escorts.

Manslaughter Trial Of Hughes Is Postponed

The trial of William J. Hughes of Midland, charged with manslaughter, was postponed yesterday. A new trial date will be set.

Hearing of the case had been set for yesterday in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown, but due to the illness of John J. Dolphin, international representative of the United Mine Workers of America, attorneys in the case agreed to the postponement.

Hughes was the driver of a truck which struck and fatally injured Thomas Robertson, 43, of Lonaconing, last May 3 during picketing operations on the Old Cemetery Road at Knapp's Meadow.

Removal of the trial to Washington county followed affidavits filed with the court stating that due to the circumstances of the case a fair and impartial trial by jury could not be obtained in Allegany county.

Another case, that of Patrick E. Kean, this city, against the Hamilton Hotel, Inc., Hagerstown, has been removed to Garrett county for trial.

Kean, elderly local man, suffered a fractured hip in a fall at the hotel while attending the race meet at Hagerstown in July 1949.

Meanwhile, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who was sworn into office here Saturday, was in Hagerstown today presiding at criminal trials. Associate Judge George Henderson was in court here yesterday.

Study Of City Employees Begins At City Hall

Research experts from the University of Maryland began yesterday at City Hall, a personnel survey of city employes working under Civil Service.

The study, to last nearly a week, is being undertaken by Richard Andrews, research assistant for the Bureau of Public Administration of the University.

The Mayor and Council requested the survey by the university several months ago. A similar study conducted at Hagerstown set up that city's civil service system, which was provided in the new Hub City charter passed two years ago. Previously Hagerstown was not under civil service.

Andrews said his work will have as it objective the operation and effectiveness of Cumberland's civil service under present laws. He said he and the bureau will seek to discover whether the employes governed by civil service laws are satisfied with them.

The research will involve the analyzing of personnel statistics on each municipal employe, Andrews declared.

This service is offered all municipalities in the state by the university at no cost.

After the survey is completed it will be taken to the university's Bureau of Public Administration where it will be analyzed prior to making a report with recommendations to the Mayor and Council.

Sgt. R. F. Ford Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

Accident Occurs Near Beaufort, S. C.

Cumberland Marine Sgt. Robert Felton Ford, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Ford, 517 Lowell Avenue, died late Sunday night as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Beaufort, S. C.

Sgt. Ford, scheduled for shipment overseas, had been stationed at Parris Island, S. C. The commanding officer sent a telegram to his parents here saying that he died at 5:45 p. m. but gave no details.

Sgt. Ford was accepted for duty in the Marine Corps in January, 1945, before his eighteenth birthday. However, he did not enter the service until two months later to comply with regulations. He served two years in North China and Guam after World War II.

Relatives said he attended Allegany High School, where he was a member of the band for three years, and worked for the C. and P. Telephone Company prior to entering the Marines. He last visited here during the Christmas holidays in 1949.

A letter received last week by his parents indicated that he "might be" sent overseas. Under normal conditions he would have been eligible for discharge in February, 1951, but the Korean situation made military changes necessary.

If sent overseas, Sgt. Ford wrote, he would attempt to obtain a 30-day furlough home before departure. He was a drill instructor at Parris Island.

Surviving, besides his parents, is a sister, Miss Ada Louise Ford, at home. His mother is the former Miss Mary Louise Felton.

The body will be brought to the Hafer Funeral Home with military escorts.

46 Deer Slain In Allegany County; Charles Is 5-1 Choice

Opening Day Total Is 34 Below 1949

Allegany Countians Bag 24; Six Illegal Kills Are Reported

Forty-six deer fell before hunters' guns yesterday in Allegany county as Maryland's six-day season got under way with unfavorable weather prevailing.

The opening day's total was far below that of last year when 80 bucks were slain which represented a record for a single day in this county. The six-day total for Allegany county was 177. The all-time record was 201, established in 1948.

Graydon S. Dunlap, deputy game warden, reported that he checked 21 deer at Shipway's Inn in the eastern end of the county. At LaVale Barracks of the Maryland State Police, an even dozen Allegany county bucks were checked in addition to two Garrett county kills. M. R. Lewis, of Lewis' Store, Oldtown, reported that 10 animals were inspected there while three of the six deer checked at the Westernport Police Station were brought down in Allegany county.

Twenty-four of the 46 kills were credited to residents of Allegany county. The animals averaged from 80 to 170 pounds, the heaviest being brought in by Herman J. Martz, Route 5, Cumberland.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reported that there were six illegal kills in Allegany county, namely, three spiked bucks, one button buck, one fawn doe and one adult doe.

Snow and rain made hunting conditions bad on opening day. In fact, several streams in the area are over their banks due to the thaw following the heavy snow of the past week.

Bi-State Holds Dinner, To Elect On January 7

Business managers of six of the eight clubs and officers of the circuit attended the annual dinner of the Bi-State Baseball League on Sunday at the Coffee Shop, Frederick street.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and among the things suggested was the zoning of teams.

Teams represented were Keyser, Westvaco, Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Hyndman and Cumberland. Lonaconing and Midland were not represented.

Officers for 1951 will be elected at a meeting to be held Sunday, January 7 in Cumberland. The place and time will be announced later. Business managers of the teams will cast ballots at the election.

Skeets Starkey TKOs Williams

McKEESPORT, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP)—"Skeets" Starkey of Cumberland, Md., won by a technical knockout over Rudy Williams of Akron, O., in 1:48 of the fifth round in a scheduled six-round semi-final bout at the Palisades tonight.

Williams, bleeding freely from the nose, hit the canvas for eight counts in the second, fourth and fifth rounds.

It was Starkey's 14th consecutive victory since turning pro.

Bob Baker Scores 18th Straight Win

CLEVELAND, Dec. 4 (AP) — Bob Baker, Pittsburgh heavyweight, scored his 18th straight win as a professional boxer tonight by taking a 10-round decision from Abel Cestac of Argentina before 10,000 fans at the Cleveland Arena tonight.

It was a close battle with Cestac's long rights winning him four rounds. However, Baker was a sharper puncher and scored with left hooks to the body during the infighting to pile up a point margin and preserve his record of never having suffered defeat as a heavyweight in pro ranks. Thirteen of his 17 previous bouts ended in knockout verdicts for Baker.

Cestac weighed 222 and Baker, 210.

Minor Leagues Spend $270,900 In Annual Draft

75 Players Involved At Florida Session

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP)—The high ranking minor leagues, alert to a growing manpower problem, went on a spending spree today in the baseball draft.

An estimated $270,900 was spent by the Triple A, Double A and Class A leagues for 75 men.

The three Triple A leagues—International, Pacific Coast and American Association, set the pace by paying some $126,400 for 25 men.

Another $76,500 was dished out by the two Double A leagues—Texas and Southern Association—for 22 additional men.

The Four Class A leagues came up with $68,000 for 28 men. In this group are the Eastern, South Atlantic, Central and Western Leagues.

Oldsters Appear On List

There were several oldsters, like Hal Gregg, the former Brooklyn and Pittsburgh pitcher, on the list. But many were within the military draft range of 19 to 26.

Few clubs had a chance to investigate thoroughly the military status of their selections. It was pretty much "hit or miss" and "hope for the best."

Gene Martin, new general manager of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League, was one of the busiest men in the Triple A division. He snared three men for his roster which had listed only 12 players. Seattle also pulled in three players.

Martin grabbed Outfielder Charley Weathers from Atlanta of the Southern Association, right-handed pitcher Jim Vitter from Wichita, Kan., of the Western League and lefthanded pitcher Bill Miller from Jacksonville of the South Atlantic League. All three are in the 22-23 age group.

Buffalo Takes Acker

Buffalo, with first pick because it finished last in the International, took Tom Acker, a 21-year-old righthanded pitcher. Although drafted from Sioux City of the Western League, he pitched at Knoxville in the Tri-State where he had a 6-3 record.

Frank Carswell, a 31-year-old outfielder who hit .400 at Texarkana in the Big State League, also went to Buffalo in its second pick.

In all, 17 of the 24 Triple A teams took at least one player. Some 12 of the 16 Double A teams took a chance with Houston, the St. Louis Cards' farm in the Texas League, grabbing four.

The Cardinal farm organization, very active last year, was busy again. Houston took Shortstop Danny Lynch from Portsmouth, Va., of the Piedmont League, Catcher Luther Phillips from Colorado Springs of the Western League, Outfielder Lou Dolcimascola from Fayetteville, N. C., of the Carolina League and righthanded pitcher Jim Lewey from Anderson, S. C.

Leagues Move Up Class

There was very little action, outside of the draft. Several leagues held individual sessons and the national association announced two leagues were moving up in class—the Gulf Coast from C to B and the Longhorn from D to C.

Trade rumors started buzzing when George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees, conferred with Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox.

No names were mentioned, but there was speculation that first baseman Eddie Robinson of the White Sox might be the subject of the chat.

Dr. H. C. Diehl Heads Beaglers

Allegany Club Joins Penn Central Group

Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, was elected president of the Allegany Beagle Club at its annual meeting held at the Woodmen of the World Home.

Others elected were H. M. Armstrong, Rawlings, vice president; John R. Armstrong, Route 5, Cumberland, secretary, and Dr. C. N. Foose, LaVale, treasurer.

The board of directors for 1951 includes Harry Barton, Hugh Stevenson, Walter Weires, Robert Shockey, George Parker, Dr. Diehl and Secretary Armstrong.

The sanctioned field trial recently postponed has been rescheduled for December 17.

The Allegany Beagle Club is a charter member of the newly organized Penn Central Association of Beagle Clubs. This association is comprised of nine clubs within a 120-mile radius of Altoona. The club's spring derby trial in the new association is set for March 11 at the local club grounds. The association championship derby stake will be held in April at the Williamsburg, Pa., club grounds.

Wonder if Bill Hahn will lay claim to the scholastic football championship of the District of Columbia for his Fort Hill High School eleven now that Eastern High has bumped off St. John's Cadets, 6-0, cracking the latter's 9-game winning streak in what was billed as the district's title contest on Friday night.

Eastern's only loss came at the hands of Washington and Lee High (Arlington, Va.), 25-0.

Mr. Hahn's Sentinels took the Little Generals into camp by the score of 19-7.

This ruling, however, is not effective during the open season on deer in six Maryland counties this week.

We learned yesterday that the "Blond Bomber" who scored 33 points in his debut with the Cumberland Spas against Johnstown here Sunday was Ed Mathewson and not Masterson, the name we copied from the official scorebook.

The name Mathewson was famous in baseball almost 40 years ago when the noted Christy was pitching for John McGraw's New York Giants.

The 33 points (12 field goals and nine fouls) scored by "Whitey" in Sunday's game is the best performance credited to a Cumberland player in the league since Bill Feeney went on a tear at Wheeling last year and collected 44 markers on 16 field goals and 12 foul goals in 17 tries.

• — • — •

When Mathewson arrived here Saturday he said he would like to "get the feel of the baskets" in the local gym before he made his debut with the Spas.

Matty worked out for about an hour Saturday night.

Before Sunday's game Coach Bill Keegan said:

"Watch this new man (pointing to No. 5). He's a crack shot."

And Mr. Keegan was not exaggerating.

Arthur Townsend, principal, says that about 100 boys will be affected by the cut. Basketball and wrestling are the only sports in which many of the youths participate.

Bedford's winter sports program has operated at a loss for several years with deficits being made up out of receipts from football.

Catamounts Chalks Up Second Straight Win

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 4—Potomac State swamped Frostburg State Teachers' College tonight by the score of 100 to 48 to register its second straight decisive triumph of the 1950-51 basketball season.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts won the opener on Saturday from Altoona Branch of Penn State College, 87-56.

In tonight's tilt, the Catamounts made a high percentage of their shots and registered a total of 37 field goals. At the charity line, the locals sank 26 of 36 throws.

Walt Devlin of Newark, N. J., led the attack with 19 points on seven fields and a 5-5 mark at the charity stripe. Billy Gannon of Piedmont was runnerup with 15 markers, Gussie Fisher of Elkins racked up 12 and John Kaldy, Belleville, N. J., and Boyd Pyles, Enon, Ohio, had 11 each.

Charles "Chuck" Sitter, former LaSalle High player, accounted for 11 of the points scored by the Bobcats from the Mountain City.

Quarter scores were 22-10, 48-18 and 80-33.

Potomac State will launch its conference campaign Saturday night when it plays West Virginia Tech here. Lineups:

Wheeling's Blues Will Battle Spas Here Sunday Night

Cumberland's Spas will play hosts to Coach Andy Tonkovich's Wheeling Blues in their next home game in the All-American Pro Basketball League Sunday night at 9 o'clock.

Wheeling and Cumberland are charter members of the A-A and they've put on many an exciting battle over the past three years. Last season Cumberland defeated the Blues in the playoffs to win the title.

Newcomers on the Wheeling squad are Eddie Sterling and Clyde Green, former West Virginia U. aces, Jim Mohan and Joe Dougherty, formerly of Duquesne University.

Holdovers are Player-Coach Tonkovich, Paul Harman and Gene Britt.

Washington County Deer Kills Are 43 For Opening Day

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, last night reported that 43 deer were killed in Washington county on the opening day of the season.

Twenty-seven were checked at Hancock and 16 at Clear Spring.

Washington county's six-day record of 98 was established last year.

Only partial returns were received from Garrett County.

They were 33 from the Sheriff's office at Oakland, 20 from Grantsville and five from the Westernport Police Station, making a total of 58. Deep Creek, Friendsville and Swanton were unreported.

Minke estimated that the kill for Garrett county yesterday would be around 100. Weather conditions were bad in that part of the state.

Lloyd Marshall Wins Over Farr

Clevelander Annexes Bloody Ten-Rounder

CARMARTHEN, Wales, Dec. 4 (AP)—Lloyd Marshall of Cleveland, Ohio, threw a road block in front of Tommy Farr's comeback campaign tonight when he outpointed the Welsh heavyweight in a blood-spattered ten-round fight at Market Hall.

The Welshman, fighting in his native hill country before a crowd of 5,000, weighed 196¾, seven and a half pounds less than the night 13 years ago when he went 15 rounds with Joe Louis. Marshall weighed 178½.

Farr never had a chance against the aggressive, free-swinging American. There were no knockdowns but Marshall opened a cut on Farr's face in the fourth round and gave him a terrific pounding right down to the finish.

The 36-year-old Farr, who won two previous fights in his comeback attempt after 12 years of inactivity, looked every bit his age as he dug into his store of ring knowledge for a defense against the plugger from Ohio.

But his attacking judgment deserted him and he failed repeatedly to take advantage of openings.

Skeeters' Franchise Is Sought By Ottawa

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP)—Ottawa today paved the way for taking up the Jersey City franchise in the International League.

Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International loop, said he had been advised by Ottawa officials they had transferred their franchise in the Border League to Cornwall, Ontario.

The New York Giants, who own the Jersey City franchise, will control the Ottawa club if it gets into the International.

Roxy Beats Spa Bar, Club Increases Lead

Sixteen-year-old Billy Sites turned in a 296 game and a 573 set on Sunday as Tommy's won two out of three from Kelso's in the American Division of the Men's City Bowling League.

Roxy upset Spa Bar, 2-1, and reduced the latter's lead to five games as Savoy, the runner-up, bagged two out of three from Bowling Green. The Eagles blanked Yellow Top Cab, 3-0.

Other high scorers included Eddie McKay, Spa Bar, 229-582; Paul Cioni, Roxy, 171-497; Athey, Bowling Green, 202-509; Curt Felton, Savoy, 257-543; George Harris, Kelso's, 171-436; Bill Smith, Eagles, 162-461; Grapes, Yellow Top, 174-465.

Club Recreation boosted its lead to four games by sweeping three from Roxy Juniors in the National Division of the league. McIntyre's runner-up team scored a 2-1 win over Harbaugh's, Liberty Lanes downed Diamond, 2-1 and Kelso Juniors trimmed Capital, 3-0.

Tom McGeady of Club led the scorers with a 224-563. Other high men were Fred Cimmino, Harbaugh's, 201-532; Billy McDermott, McIntyres, 211-521; Joe Lagratta, Liberty, 186-502; V. Becker, Roxy Juniors, 199-474; Willie Robosson, Kelso Juniors, 172-477; Don Bucy, Diamond, 172-444 and Lou Yergan, Capital, 147-399. The standings:

Heavy Champ Faces Barone In Ohio Ring

Ezzard Defends Title 5th Time In 15-Round Contest At Cincinnati

By FRITZ HOWELL

CINCINNATI, Dec. 4 (AP)—The odds fellows had heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles a 5-1 choice today to retain his laurels in tomorrow's 15-round title scrap with rugged Nick Barone of Syracuse.

Overlooking the fact Barone has never been off his feet in 52 professional fights, the betting boys opine "the only thing Charles figures to lose is his moustache."

The Queen City Boxing Commission ordered the champ to shave the hirsute adornment from his upper lip—but it was still there today as the gladiators staged a mock weighing-in ceremony for the photographers.

Defends Title 5th Time

About 10,000 of Charles' home town fans are expected to put some $50,000 on the line to watch the Cincinnati negro's fifth defense of the title in Ohio's first heavyweight championship scrap in almost 20 years.

This is one championship bout in which neither principal gets a guarantee. The payoff will be on the number of dollars they draw at the gate, with Charles getting 42½ per cent, and Barone 17½.

The boys offered a startling contrast at today's hand-shaking exercises. Charles, long and lithe, towered several inches over the chunky Barone who is built along the lines of a fire plug and appears as durable.

Barone Is Bleeder

Barone's manager, Henry Andrews, told the commission that his boy is a bit of a bleeder and asked that the festivities not be stopped should the Syracuse 24-year-old spring a leak from an eye or face cut.

"What if Barone does bleed a little?" Andrews asked. "It's to his credit. Most fighters today are so old they can't bleed. They're mummified."

Bayoneted By Japs

Manager Andrews announced that "Barone has been in tougher fights than this. He enlisted in the Marines when he was 16, went through three major battles in the Pacific, including Iwo Jima; was bayoneted in the arm by a Jap—but here he is taking on all comers."

Barone, at 24, has youth riding on his side against the champion who, at 29, isn't exactly a graybeard. Charles, weighing about 184, will have a four-pound pull.

The fight, originally scheduled last Tuesday night, was postponed when the biggest snow of the decade blanketed the state. Now the snow is gone, but floodwaters offer a new menace. The high water isn't expected to hamper the fight—but may cut the attendance from out-of-town.

46 Deer Slain In Allegany County; Charles Is 5-1 Choice

Opening Day Total Is 34 Below 1949

Allegany Countians Bag 24; Six Illegal Kills Are Reported

Forty-six deer fell before hunters' guns yesterday in Allegany county as Maryland's six-day season got under way with unfavorable weather prevailing.

The opening day's total was far below that of last year when 80 bucks were slain which represented a record for a single day in this county. The six-day total for Allegany county was 177. The all-time record was 201, established in 1948.

Graydon S. Dunlap, deputy game warden, reported that he checked 21 deer at Shipway's Inn in the eastern end of the county. At La-Vale Barracks of the Maryland State Police, an even dozen Allegany county bucks were checked in addition to two Garrett county kills. M. R. Lewis, of Lewis' Store, Oldtown, reported that 10 animals were inspected there while three of the six deer checked at the Westernport Police Station were brought down in Allegany county.

Twenty-four of the 46 kills were credited to residents of Allegany county. The animals averaged from 80 to 170 pounds, the heaviest being brought in by Herman J. Martz, Route 5, Cumberland.

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, reported that there were six illegal kills in Allegany county, namely, three spiked bucks, one button buck, one fawn doe and one adult doe.

Snow and rain made hunting conditions bad on opening day. In fact, several streams in the area are over their banks due to the thaw following the heavy snow of the past week.

Bi-State Holds Dinner, To Elect On January 7

Business managers of six of the eight clubs and officers of the circuit attended the annual dinner of the Bi-State Baseball League on Sunday at the Coffee Shop, Frederick street.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and among the things suggested was the zoning of teams.

Teams represented were Keyser, Westvaco, Mt. Savage, Frostburg, Hyndman and Cumberland. Lonaconing and Midland were not represented.

Officers for 1951 will be elected at a meeting to be held Sunday, January 7 in Cumberland. The place and time will be announced later. Business managers of the teams will cast ballots at the election.

Skeets Starkey TKOs Williams

McKEESPORT, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP)—"Skeets" Starkey of Cumberland, Md., won by a technical knockout over Rudy Williams of Akron, O., in 1:48 of the fifth round in a scheduled six-round semi-final bout at the Palisades tonight.

Williams, bleeding freely from the nose, hit the canvas for eight counts in the second, fourth and fifth rounds.

It was Starkey's 14th consecutive victory since turning pro.

Bob Baker Scores 18th Straight Win

CLEVELAND, Dec. 4 (AP) — Bob Baker, Pittsburgh heavyweight, scored his 18th straight win as a professional boxer tonight by taking a 10-round decision from Abel Cestac of Argentina before 10,000 fans at the Cleveland Arena tonight.

It was a close battle with Cestac's long rights winning him four rounds. However, Baker was a sharper puncher and scored with left hooks to the body during the infighting to pile up a point margin and preserve his record of never having suffered defeat as a heavyweight in pro ranks. Thirteen of his 17 previous bouts ended in knockout verdicts for Baker.

Cestac weighed 222 and Baker, 210.

75 Players Involved At Florida Session

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP)—The high ranking minor leagues, alert to a growing manpower problem, went on a spending spree today in the baseball draft.

An estimated $270,900 was spent by the Triple A, Double A and Class A leagues for 75 men.

The three Triple A leagues—International, Pacific Coast and American Association, set the pace by paying some $126,400 for 25 men.

Another $76,500 was dished out by the two Double A leagues—Texas and Southern Association—for 22 additional men.

The Four Class A leagues came up with $68,000 for 28 men. In this group are the Eastern, South Atlantic, Central and Western Leagues.

Oldsters Appear On List

There were several oldsters, like Hal Gregg, the former Brooklyn and Pittsburgh pitcher, on the list. But many were within the military draft range of 19 to 26.

Few clubs had a chance to investigate thoroughly the military status of their selections. It was pretty much "hit or miss" and "hope for the best."

Gene Martin, new general manager of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League, was one of the busiest men in the Triple A division. He snared three men for his roster which had listed only 12 players. Seattle also pulled in three players.

Martin grabbed Outfielder Charley Weathers from Atlanta of the Southern Association, right-handed pitcher Jim Vitter from Wichita, Kan., of the Western League and lefthanded pitcher Bill Miller from Jacksonville of the South Atlantic League. All three are in the 22-23 age group.

Buffalo Takes Acker

Buffalo, with first pick because it finished last in the International, took Tom Acker, a 21-year-old righthanded pitcher. Although drafted from Sioux City of the Western League, he pitched at Knoxville in the Tri-State where he had a 6-3 record.

Frank Carswell, a 31-year-old outfielder who hit .400 at Texarkana in the Big State League, also went to Buffalo in its second pick.

In all, 17 of the 24 Triple A teams took at least one player. Some 12 of the 16 Double A teams took a chance with Houston, the St. Louis Cards' farm in the Texas League, grabbing four.

The Cardinal farm organization, very active last year, was busy again. Houston took Shortstop Danny Lynch from Portsmouth, Va., of the Piedmont League, Catcher Luther Phillips from Colorado Springs of the Western League, Outfielder Lou Dolcimascola from Fayetteville, N. C., of the Carolina League and righthanded pitcher Jim Lewey from Anderson, S. C.

Leagues Move Up Class

There was very little action, outside of the draft. Several leagues held individual sessons and the national association announced two leagues were moving up in class—the Gulf Coast from C to B and the Longhorn from D to C.

Trade rumors started buzzing when George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees, conferred with Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox.

No names were mentioned, but there was speculation that first baseman Eddie Robinson of the White Sox might be the subject of the chat.

Dr. H. C. Diehl Heads Beaglers

Allegany Club Joins Penn Central Group

Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, was elected president of the Allegany Beagle Club at its annual meeting held at the Woodmen of the World Home.

Others elected were H. M. Armstrong, Rawlings, vice president; John R. Armstrong, Route 5, Cumberland, secretary, and Dr. C. N. Foose, LaVale, treasurer.

The board of directors for 1951 includes Harry Barton, Hugh Stevenson, Walter Weires, Robert Shockey, George Parker, Dr. Diehl and Secretary Armstrong.

The sanctioned field trial recently postponed has been rescheduled for December 17.

The Allegany Beagle Club is a charter member of the newly organized Penn Central Association of Beagle Clubs. This association is comprised of nine clubs within a 120-mile radius of Altoona. The club's spring derby trial in the new association is set for March 11 at the local club grounds. The association championship derby stake will be held in April at the Williamsburg, Pa., club grounds.

Wonder if Bill Hahn will lay claim to the scholastic football championship of the District of Columbia for his Fort Hill High School eleven now that Eastern High has bumped off St. John's Cadets, 6-0, cracking the latter's 9-game winning streak in what was billed as the district's title contest on Friday night.

Eastern's only loss came at the hands of Washington and Lee High (Arlington, Va.), 25-0.

Mr. Hahn's Sentinels took the Little Generals into camp by the score of 19-7.

We learned yesterday that the "Blond Bomber" who scored 33 points in his debut with the Cumberland Spas against Johnstown here Sunday was Ed Mathewson and not Masterson, the name we copied from the official scorebook.

The name Mathewson was famous in baseball almost 40 years ago when the noted Christy was pitching for John McGraw's New York Giants.

The 33 points (12 field goals and nine fouls) scored by "Whitey" in Sunday's game is the best performance credited to a Cumberland player in the league since Bill Feeney went on a tear at Wheeling last year and collected 44 markers on 16 field goals and 12 foul goals in 17 tries.

• - • - •

When Mathewson arrived here Saturday he said he would like to "get the feel of the baskets" in the local gym before he made his debut with the Spas.

Matty worked out for about an hour Saturday night.

Before Sunday's game Coach Bill Keegan said:

And Mr. Keegan was not exaggerating.

Arthur Townsend, principal, says that about 100 boys will be affected by the cut. Basketball and wrestling are the only sports in which many of the youths participate.

Bedford's winter sports program has operated at a loss for several years with deficits being made up out of receipts from football.

Last year wrestling and basketball receipts were $900 but expenses were about $1,600.

Catamounts Chalks Up Second Straight Win

KEYSER, W. Va., Dec. 4—Potomac State swamped Frostburg State Teachers' College tonight by the score of 100 to 48 to register its second straight decisive triumph of the 1950-51 basketball season.

Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Catamounts won the opener on Saturday from Altoona Branch of Penn State College, 87-56.

In tonight's tilt, the Catamounts made a high percentage of their shots and registered a total of 37 field goals. At the charity line, the locals sank 26 of 36 throws.

Walt Devlin of Newark, N. J., led the attack with 19 points on seven fields and a 5-5 mark at the charity stripe. Billy Gannon of Piedmont was runnerup with 15 markers, Gussie Fisher of Elkins racked up 12 and John Kaldy, Belleville, N. J., and Boyd Pyles, Enon, Ohio, had 11 each.

Quarter scores were 22-10, 48-18 and 80-33.

32 Deer Are Killed In Ft. Ashby Section

Owen D. Hughes, conservation officer at Fort Ashby, W. Va., last night reported that 32 legal deer were killed by hunters yesterday in the Fort Ashby section of Mineral county.

Benny Adams of Fort Ashby was the first to check in at 10 a. m. He bagged a deer that weighed 130 pounds and had eight points.

Wheeling's Blues Will Battle Spas Here Sunday Night

Cumberland's Spas will play hosts to Coach Andy Tonkovich's Wheeling Blues in their next home game in the All-American Pro Basketball League Sunday night at 9 o'clock.

Wheeling and Cumberland are charter members of the A-A and they've put on many an exciting battle over the past three years. Last season Cumberland defeated the Blues in the playoffs to win the title.

Newcomers on the Wheeling squad are Eddie Sterling and Clyde Green, former West Virginia U. aces, Jim Mohan and Joe Dougherty, formerly of Duquesne University.

Holdovers are Player-Coach Tonkovich, Paul Harman and Gene Britt.

Washington County Deer Kills Are 43 For Opening Day

Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, last night reported that 43 deer were killed in Washington county on the opening day of the season.

Twenty-seven were checked at Hancock and 16 at Clear Spring.

Washington county's six-day record of 98 was established last year.

Only partial returns were received from Garrett County.

They were 33 from the Sheriff's office at Oakland, 20 from Grantsville and five from the Westernport Police Station, making a total of 58. Deep Creek, Friendsville and Swanton were unreported.

Minke estimated that the kill for Garrett county yesterday would be around 100. Weather conditions were bad in that part of the state.

Clevelander Annexes Bloody Ten-Rounder

CARMARTHEN, Wales, Dec. 4 (AP)—Lloyd Marshall of Cleveland, Ohio, threw a road block in front of Tommy Farr's comeback campaign tonight when he outpointed the Welsh heavyweight in a blood-spattered ten-round fight at Market Hall.

The Welshman, fighting in his native hill country before a crowd of 5,000, weighed 196¾, seven and a half pounds less than the night 13 years ago when he went 15 rounds with Joe Louis. Marshall weighed 178½.

Farr never had a chance against the aggressive, free-swinging American. There were no knockdowns but Marshall opened a cut on Farr's face in the fourth round and gave him a terrific pounding right down to the finish.

The 36-year-old Farr, who won two previous fights in his comeback attempt after 12 years of inactivity, looked every bit his age as he dug into his store of ring knowledge for a defense against the plugger from Ohio.

But his attacking judgment deserted him and he failed repeatedly to take advantage of openings.

Skeeters' Franchise Is Sought By Ottawa

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP)—Ottawa today paved the way for taking up the Jersey City franchise in the International League.

Frank J. Shaughnessy, president of the International loop, said he had been advised by Ottawa officials they had transferred their franchise in the Border League to Cornwall, Ontario.

The New York Giants, who own the Jersey City franchise, will control the Ottawa club if it gets into the International.

Ezzard Defends Title 5th Time In 15-Round Contest At Cincinnati

By FRITZ HOWELL

CINCINNATI, Dec. 4 (AP)—The odds fellows had heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles a 5-1 choice today to retain his laurels in tomorrow's 15-round title scrap with rugged Nick Barone of Syracuse.

Overlooking the fact Barone has never been off his feet in 52 professional fights, the betting boys opine "the only thing Charles figures to lose is his moustache."

The Queen City Boxing Commission ordered the champ to shave the hirsute adornment from his upper lip—but it was still there today as the gladiators staged a mock weighing-in ceremony for the photographers.

Defends Title 5th Time

About 10,000 of Charles' home town fans are expected to put some $50,000 on the line to watch the Cincinnati negro's fifth defense of the title in Ohio's first heavyweight championship scrap in almost 20 years.

This is one championship bout in which neither principal gets a guarantee. The payoff will be on the number of dollars they draw at the gate, with Charles getting 42½ per cent, and Barone 17½.

The boys offered a startling contrast at today's hand-shaking exercises. Charles, long and lithe, towered several inches over the chunky Barone who is built along the lines of a fire plug and appears as durable.

Barone Is Bleeder

Barone's manager, Henry Andrews, told the commission that his boy is a bit of a bleeder and asked that the festivities not be stopped should the Syracuse 24-year-old spring a leak from an eye or face cut.

"What if Barone does bleed a little?" Andrews asked. "It's to his credit. Most fighters today are so old they can't bleed. They're mummified."

Bayoneted By Japs

Manager Andrews announced that "Barone has been in tougher fights than this. He enlisted in the Marines when he was 16, went through three major battles in the Pacific, including Iwo Jima; was bayoneted in the arm by a Jap—but here he is taking on all comers."

Barone, at 24, has youth riding on his side against the champion who, at 29, isn't exactly a graybeard. Charles, weighing about 184, will have a four-pound pull.

The fight, originally scheduled last Tuesday night, was postponed when the biggest snow of the decade blanketed the state. Now the snow is gone, but floodwaters offer a new menace. The high water isn't expected to hamper the fight—but may cut the attendance from out-of-town.

Sites Hits 296 In City League

Roxy Beats Spa Bar, Club Increases Lead

Sixteen-year-old Billy Sites turned in a 296 game and a 573 set on Sunday as Tommy's won two out of three from Kelso's in the American Division of the Men's City Bowling League.

Roxy upset Spa Bar, 2-1, and reduced the latter's lead to five games as Savoy, the runner-up, bagged two out of three from Bowling Green. The Eagles blanked Yellow Top Cab, 3-0.

Other high scorers included Eddie McKay, Spa Bar, 229-582; Paul Cioni, Roxy, 171-497; Athey, Bowling Green, 202-509; Curt Felton, Savoy, 257-543; George Harris, Kelso's, 171-436; Bill Smith, Eagles, 162-461; Grapes, Yellow Top, 174-465.

Club Recreation boosted its lead to four games by sweeping three from Roxy Juniors in the National Division of the league. McIntyre's runner-up team scored a 2-1 win over Harbaugh's, Liberty Lanes downed Diamond, 2-1 and Kelso Juniors trimmed Capital, 3-0.

Tom McGeady of Club led the scorers with a 224-563. Other high men were Fred Cimmino, Harbaugh's, 201-532; Billy McDermott, McIntyres, 211-521; Joe Lagratta, Liberty, 186-502; V. Becker, Roxy Juniors, 199-474; Willie Robosson, Kelso Juniors, 172-477; Don Bucy, Diamond, 172-444 and Lou Yergan, Capital, 147-399. The standings:

Culmone Rides 360th Winner

Pilots Roman Miss In Florida Victory

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP) — Joe Culmone, whose sensational riding has captivated the turf world, bagged his 360th winner of the year when he fairly pushed H. F. Kirmendahl's Roman Miss to victory in the featured sixth race at Tropical Park today.

The nation's leading rider of 1950, who arrived here from Bowie, Md., on Sunday, is striving mightily to crack the record of 388 winners established by the immortal Walter Miller back in 1906.

Earlier in the day, Culmone missed on three mounts. He finished fifth on King Supreme in the third; third on Havahome in the fourth and fifth on David N in the fifth. He still had one other mount today, Maudeaux in the eighth, which finished third.

The popularity of Culmone was reflected in the fact that a crowd of 6,780 turned out to see the hard-riding little Italian continue his schedule at this point.

Culmone Rides 360th Winner

Pilots Roman Miss In Florida Victory

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP) — Joe Culmone, whose sensational riding has captivated the turf world, bagged his 360th winner of the year when he fairly pushed H. F. Kirmendahl's Roman Miss to victory in the featured sixth race at Tropical Park today.

The nation's leading rider of 1950, who arrived here from Bowie, Md., on Sunday, is striving mightily to crack the record of 388 winners established by the immortal Walter Miller back in 1906.

Earlier in the day, Culmone missed on three mounts. He finished fifth on King Supreme in the third; third on Havahome in the fourth and fifth on David N in the fifth. He still had one other mount today, Maudeaux in the eighth, which finished third.

The popularity of Culmone was reflected in the fact that a crowd of 6,780 turned out to see the hard-riding little Italian continue his schedule at this point.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4—(INS)—I am happy to have Jerry Wald tell me that he and Norman Krasna believe that Jane Greer should play the sort of roles that made Carole Lombard so popular and beloved.

Jane Greer

Jane, one of the wittiest and most sparkling conversationalists among the glamour girls, has never really had a chance to show what she can do on the screen.

Now she is going to have the top femme role in George Beck's story, "The Middle Of The Night," which Beck will direct for RKO.

Those two "klever kids," Wald and Krasna, are putting in a bid to Sam Goldwyn for Farley Granger. Farley, sick to death of neurotic roles, has expressed himself as being interested. So, maybe his trip to Europe will be called off.

You'll feel all the better if you make Christmas a time of giving as well as receiving!

The marine reserves are placing barrels in the theatres all over the USA to receive toys for underprivileged children which Boy Scouts will distribute. If you have toys that are almost as good as new that your children have discarded, or if you want to buy new toys, just wrap them up, put them in a barrel in any theater lobby and mark whether they're for a girl or a boy.

This is the third year the marine reserves' "Toys for Tots" has been in effect. If you help, your Christmas will be happier and some underprivileged child will know that it's really a merry Christmas!

Chatter in Hollywood:

Brod Crawford, still feudin' with Columbia, is getting ready to pull a fast one. His contract stipulates that he cannot act for any other company unless on official loan.

But there is nothing in the document to keep him from directing if he chooses—and he happens to choose!

So last year's Oscar winner will direct the stage revival of "Of Mice and Men" at the El Capitan theater for Gene Mann, play producer and good friend of Brod's.

• — • — •

Bette Davis may do "Dinner At Antoine's." I'm told that the script Frances Marion has written on Frances Parkinson Keyes' novel is so good that Bette is interested in making it and has been discussing it with Jack Skirball.

Meanwhile, Bette and Gary Merrill are living in the house Jessica and Richard Barthelmess built at Malibu. "It's such a wonderful house," they told me, "really New England in feeling and right on the ocean."

I remember so well when the Barthelmesses moved into that house and I went to the housewarming. How the years go on, and the Hollywood scene changes.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

All that popping off Orson Welles did in Paris newspapers against the German people may result in the boycott of "Prince Of Foxes" in Berlin theaters.

Rhonda Fleming has broken with her agent, Helen Ainsworth, who will take the fight to court.

Bet Danny Kaye will be surprised to learn that those home movies taken on his stroll with George Bernard Shaw, through Shaw's village, will be put in a feature short about the last days of G.B.S.

Jimmy Stewart is putting on the most novel preview ever held in London. He's showing "Harvey" to the doctors, nurses and interns of King's hospital where he had his appendix yanked.

After they saw "Affairs Of State," Celeste Holm entertained Prince Olaf and Princess Marthe of Norway at a backstage supper.

I hear George Raft has his Coldwater home for sale.

The bets are that Robert Montgomery will say "no" to Abby Greshler's bid to star Bob in Steve Fisher's "Goodbye To Katie" thriller in January. That's the time Bob's marrying wealthy Mrs. Harkness.

Sy Barlett with Phyllis Kirk at the Kings.

Errol Flynn and his bride will go to Jamaica for Christmas.

MGM got Wynn Rocamora out of bed in New York to tell him they picked up Keefe Brasselle's option a month in advance. Well, I'd expect that, wouldn't you?

Annette and Larry Kent, who have been living in London for several years, arrive in New York December 7, accompanied by Mabelle and Clifton Webb. Larry, who has not been well, will stay there for about two months. They'll head for Hollywood December 18.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

My Uncle Herbert loves to rough it in the woods every summer, communing with nature in an outfit that sets him back about three hundred dollars. Last year we were freezing gradually to death in an overnight cabin in Maine when I suggested that Uncle Herbert blaze a trail to the kitchen and light the stove.

A couple of moments later he was back with his impeccable costume strangely tattered and torn. "I thought you were going to light the stove?" I grumbled. "I did," maintained Uncle Herbert, "but it went out." "Well," I said impatiently, "light it again." "I can't," said Uncle Herbert. "It went out through the roof."

An important author arrived unannounced to see his publisher one Wednesday. "Sorry," said the receptionist, "but he's away for the weekend." The author asked sarcastically, "Last weekend or this weekend?"

to play this thing real smart, like the Russians?

Haven't seen a Russian in Korea, eh? Well, that's why we've got to play this smart: Show 'em we're not blowing our tops over a little thing like a few dozen thousand casualties in the war against its stooges. Out-fox 'em, that's what we'll do. They can't pull the wool over our eyes, hey?

We gave them a dandy licking in U.N. the other day, isn't that any comfort to you? Mr. Austin made a much better speech than Mr. Wu. asked him 20 pertinent questions that hit right at the heart of the whole trouble you claim to be in. A good laugh was had by all when Wu didn't answer any of them. We won a nice victory, too, when after a day and a half of debate, Mr. Austin won the right to speak first.

• — • — •

Oh, you were hit in the gut during the debate? Well, don't you worry. We've reached the age of reason, just like the man said on the radio.

You say you read something in "Stars and Stripes" about the British and French criticizing MacArthur for pulling a boner in Korea, and it worries you because you think he'd do okay if we let him decide just what to do over there, and maybe gave him a gross of A-bombs to back up his comments? So you're anti-U.N., that's what you are. Didn't you see the British and French there? They've done a grand job. The British sent 1,500 troops, we'll have you know, and the French sent a fine gunboat. So quit your subversive talk this minute.

You think that if we were not forced to loaf around at the 38th parallel we could have gotten to the Yalu river before it froze into a bomb-proof bridge and let the Chinese Reds across? You're young, boy. Can't rush these matters. Got to argue them out. What are you, an aggressor?

You've got to be mature in this day and age, as the radio fellow said. And cut out that childish prattle about us losing the heavyweight championship of the world because we're using our jab instead of our haymaker. You must be out of your head.

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

HEARD A MAN on the radio from Washington say the other night that this country at last reached the age of reason and wasn't going to let a little thing like the appalling setbacks in North Korea throw us off stride.

We'll play a waiting game like Russia, the man said, and will that be a dandy surprise to the world that has heard us called an aggressor.

This should be a great comfort to a lot of guys freezing and dying in the war against Red China, which may be known to future historians as World War Two and Three Quarters.

Get a bullet in the gut, Mac? Don't let that worry you; and don't squawk too loud. We've got to be discreet, you know. Can't let Russia taunt us into getting real tough. What? You need either some quick plasma or some real tough action to back up you and your buddies? The way you talk you'd think that something happened to you besides being mortally hurt and on the run.

You don't understand. Where's your discretion? You want to louse up that nice example we wish to set? What are you, a fascist? What would our beloved Secretary of State say if he heard you bellyaching like that? Better clam up, Mac. Don't you remember that the wounded don't cry?

You want to know where is everybody who promised to fight on your side? They'll be along, don't you worry. Any year now. No sense rushing into this thing, you know. Got to get through the procedural at U.N. before we can even consider the substantive. Got to play this thing according to the book. How's that? They don't play by the book? But we do, buster. That's the important thing, as the fellow on the radio said.

What's that? You think that inasmuch as we turned down those 33,000 Chinese Nationalist troops when they were offered to us, for fear that the Red Chinese might come into Korea, we should now take them up on their offer — inasmuch as the Red Chinese are in? Now take it easy. Who you think you are? Trying to stampede us, eh? Don't you realize we've got

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS)—

HEARD A MAN on the radio from Washington say the other night that this country at last reached the age of reason and wasn't going to let a little thing like the appalling setbacks in North Korea throw us off stride.

We'll play a waiting game like Russia, the man said, and will that be a dandy surprise to the world that has heard us called an aggressor.

This should be a great comfort to a lot of guys freezing and dying in the war against Red China, which may be known to future historians as World War Two and Three Quarters.

Get a bullet in the gut, Mac? Don't let that worry you; and don't squawk too loud. We've got to be discreet, you know. Can't let Russia taunt us into getting real tough. What? You need either some quick plasma or some real tough action to back up you and your buddies? The way you talk you'd think that something happened to you besides being mortally hurt and on the run.

You don't understand. Where's your discretion? You want to louse up that nice example we wish to set? What are you, a fascist? What would our beloved Secretary of State say if he heard you bellyaching like that? Better clam up, Mac. Don't you remember that the wounded don't cry?

You want to know where is everybody who promised to fight on your side? They'll be along, don't you worry. Any year now. No sense rushing into this thing, you know. Got to get through the procedural at U.N. before we can even consider the substantive. Got to play this thing according to the book. How's that? They don't play by the book? But we do, buster. That's the important thing, as the fellow on the radio said.

What's that? You think that inasmuch as we turned down those 33,000 Chinese Nationalist troops when they were offered to us, for fear that the Red Chinese might come into Korea, we should now take them up on their offer — inasmuch as the Red Chinese are in? Now take it easy. Who you think you are? Trying to stampede us, eh? Don't you realize we've got to play this thing real smart, like the Russians?

Haven't seen a Russian in Korea, eh? Well, that's why we've got to play this smart: Show 'em we're not blowing our tops over a little thing like a few dozen thousand casualties in the war against its stooges. Out-fox 'em, that's what we'll do. They can't pull the wool over our eyes, hey?

We gave them a dandy licking in U.N. the other day, isn't that any comfort to you? Mr. Austin made a much better speech than Mr. Wu. asked him 20 pertinent questions that hit right at the heart of the whole trouble you claim to be in. A good laugh was had by all when Wu didn't answer any of them. We won a nice victory, too, when after a day and a half of debate, Mr. Austin won the right to speak first.

Oh, you were hit in the gut during the debate? Well, don't you worry. We've reached the age of reason, just like the man said on the radio.

You say you read something in "Stars and Stripes" about the British and French criticizing MacArthur for pulling a boner in Korea, and it worries you because you think he'd do okay if we let him decide just what to do over there, and maybe gave him a gross of A-bombs to back up his comments? So you're anti-U.N., that's what you are. Didn't you see the British and French there? They've done a grand job. The British sent 1,500 troops, we'll have you know, and the French sent a fine gunboat. So quit your subversive talk this minute.

You think that if we were not forced to loaf around at the 38th parallel we could have gotten to the Yalu river before it froze into a bomb-proof bridge and let the Chinese Reds across? You're young, boy. Can't rush these matters. Got to argue them out. What are you, an aggressor?

You've got to be mature in this day and age, as the radio fellow said. And cut out that childish prattle about us losing the heavyweight championship of the world because we're using our jab instead of our haymaker. You must be out of your head.

Radiant health is what draws the eyes today; it is a magnet that never fails to charm!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

WHEN grandmother was a girl, it was considered quite alluring to be prone to a vague illness known as the "vapors". But in this day of the up-and-doing woman, the world fails to respond to the wan, pale and listless.

Radiant health is what draws the eyes today; it is a magnet that never fails to charm. Never squander your supply, either consciously or unconsciously! Guard it and nurture it with all the perseverance that you can command.

If your charm has been languishing of late, perhaps it's because you've been ignoring one or more of the following beauty-health rules. Each is important if you want to retain your youthful appearance and best personality.

Don't Skip One

1. Start every day with a circulation booster. A brisk wake-up shower with a friction sponge or brush for added stimulation will boost your vitality and all-over complexion like nothing else. Give yourself a final pick-up with a cool, pin-point rinse and a vigorous turkish-towel rub.

2. Eat a hearty, well-balanced breakfast. Breakfast-skippers never function at par. It's the meal that is a sure antidote for nerves, fatigue and irritability.

3. Be sure there are beauty foods in every meal daily. (Don't be a boring faddist; just be sensible.) Watch what wheat germ mixed with milk at breakfast will do for your energy. See how the vitamins in a noontime vegetable salad enliven your skin and hair. Choose dried fruits or juice for between meal snacks and you won't have to watch your figure—as much!

4. Drink plenty of water between meals. Get the thirsty habit and you'll soon notice a new sparkle in your eyes.

5. Walk briskly for a half-hour daily. When your stride is free, your carriage erect, and your breathing deep, walking is the ideal physical and mental cobweb chaser.

Daily Relaxation

6. Relax for ten minutes daily. Lie flat, close your eyes, breathe slowly, and consciously release the tension that wrinkles your face and disposition.

7. Set aside ten minutes daily for body conditioning to take care of slight figure adjustments. You can ever rest on your laurels if you desire figure beauty!

8. Sleep a full eight hours every night. If you make it your habit to rise and to retire at approximately the same hours daily, you'll find your beauty sleep coming naturally and refreshingly.

Yesterday's Answer

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

NLG TKR GSSGJNC UVOBCNUJG NH VH HVG; KVM MHGC UVOBEF NH VH HVG—TKR.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: LOVE CONSUMES ME NEVERTHELESS; FOR WHAT BOUNDS ARE THERE TO LOVE?—VIRGIL.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and following the death of our father and husband, Louis Batie, Jr. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.
Mrs. Louis Batie, Jr. and Daughter

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Dorothy Louise Smith, who passed away 3 years ago today, December 5, 1947.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a loved-one gone to rest,
We know you are safe in the arms of Jesus;
For he knows all things best.
Sadly missed by her parents:
Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Smith and Family

In memory of Estel Shelley, who passed away one year ago today, December 4, 1949.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day dear Estel,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by his Mother and Father,
Brothers and Sisters

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, Estel C. Shelley, who passed away one year ago today, December 4, 1949.
We often sit and think of you,
When we are all alone.
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to fight the blow.
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness and following the death of our father and husband, Louis Batie, Jr. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.
Mrs. Louis Batie, Jr. and Daughter

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear daughter, Dorothy Louise Smith, who passed away 3 years ago today, December 5, 1947.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a loved-one gone to rest,
We know you are safe in the arms of Jesus;
For he knows all things best.
Sadly missed by her parents:
Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Smith and Family

In memory of Estel Shelley, who passed away one year ago today, December 4, 1949.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true;
There is not a day dear Estel,
That we do not think of you.
Sadly missed by his Mother and Father,
Brothers and Sisters

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear husband and father, Estel C. Shelley, who passed away one year ago today, December 4, 1949.
We often sit and think of you,
When we are all alone.
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to fight the blow.
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Wife and Children

Selling Waves Knock Down Market Prices $1-$4 Share

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Korean war reverses brought on two severe selling waves today in the stock market and knocked down prices by $1 to around $4 a share.

A number of rallies were attempted from time to time but got no place. In the final hour another selling wave battered away interim gains and forced prices down to a new low on the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $2.20 at $81.50. That loss was 30 cents less than last Tuesday when Gen. MacArthur proclaimed we were faced with "an entirely new war."

The industrial component of the average lost $2.90, rails $2.10, and utilities 60 cents.

The volume of trading came to 2,510,000 shares.

General Motors was the most active issue off 1⅜ at 44¾. It was followed by U. S. Steel off 1⅝ at 37½, and Republic Steel off 3 at 38⅝.

Motors, steel, rails and oils were among the most active major groups, and losses were particularly marked also in rubbers, chemicals, mining and a long list of miscellaneous industrial issues.

on the run. General MacArthur must, he can only, have ordered the "home by Christmas" offensive on the basis of an estimate of enemy capabilities and intentions so grossly false that over 200,000 Chinese troops were somehow lost in the shuffle. He must, he can only, have been perfectly sincere in saying that he hoped to "end the war for all practical purposes." It is a dreadful thing that General MacArthur thus walked into a huge, well-laid trap. But it is more just to our most eminent American soldier to admit this frankly, than to try to pretend that he got into the trap of his own volition.

In short the horror that confronts us proves the converse of a rule already given. Just as a great commander can work miracles with good intelligence, so even the greatest commander cannot overcome bad intelligence. Since the bad intelligence emanated from General MacArthur's own headquarters, this may displease those who like to believe that he has attained a sort of divine perfection. But facts are facts none the less, and they must be faced.

"AGGRESSION INCREASED"—"Aggression has increased against the U. S., not decreased since the Korean conflict began," Col. Joseph A. Caldara, U. S. Army Air Force, told his audience Sunday night at the Elks Memorial Service at Allegany High School auditorium. Col. Caldara was guest speaker at the annual event which eulogizes deceased members of local Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks. Seen on the speaking roster are Earl M. Nonnenmann (left), Col. Caldara (at the microphone), and Walter A. Fraley, Jr., exalted ruler of the local lodge.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NO TRUMPS TO SPARE

THERE are times when you can't spare enough of the dummy's trumps to ruff out all the losing cards of some particular suit in your own hand. You may require some minimum number of trumps in the dummy in order to lead them through the defender who seems to hold a missing honor, against which it is necessary to finesse. In that event, you must find some other way to get rid of your losers, perhaps establishing another suit in the dummy so that you may discard them.

Algot S. Lindberg of Milwaukee, who reports this deal, doesn't explain why he left it in 6-Diamonds instead of 6-Hearts when holding four cards of that suit. Nor does he say why North bid 6-Diamonds instead of 6-Hearts. Either contract, as it developed, depended on trapping the diamond Q and playing soundly otherwise.

Against the diamond slam, West scored his club K and, when East put the unnecessarily high Q on it, led the club K. "I presumed this to be a feeble attempt to shorten dummy's trump," reports Mr. Lindberg. "Actually it told me where the diamond Q lay." He could have added that, if West had any more honor strength than the A-K he had shown, he might have made some bid.

Acting on his reading, Mr. Lindberg ruffed the second club honor with the diamond K, finessed the diamond J and 10, and caught the Q with the A. He then carefully utilized his heart entries to set up spades. He led the spade 10 to the A, ruffed the 4 with the diamond 2, led the heart 7 to the 10, ruffed the spade 6 with the diamond 7, which eliminated the Q and K, then led to the now solid dummy, making his contract neatly.

Notice that at 6-Hearts the same method would work, ruffing spades and establishing the dummy. Three ruffs could have been made of spades, two of them high, if needed, before exhausting trumps, as protection against bad suit divisions, so long as the diamond Q was gussed right.

Sharon Wright Is Featured Tonight At Civic Concert

Sharon Lee Wright, ten-year-old piano prodigy from Baltimore, will be the featured soloist at the Cumberland Civic Symphony's fall concert to be held this evening at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium.

Miss Syckes has played this year with the Baltimore and Richmond Symphonies.

On the program for this evening are ten classical selections, including Schubert's "Rosamunce Overture," "Arioso" by Bach and Richardson's "The British Grenaciers."

Two selections by Wagner are being presented, namely, "Procession of the Mastersingers" and "Introduction to Act II Lohengrin."

Mozart's "Concerto for Piano in A" and Herbert's "Dream Melody from Naughty Marietta" are also on the program.

In addition, "Serenade in the Night" by Cherubini, "Sleigh Ride" by Anderson, and "An American Fantasie" by Grossman are being featured.

Selling Waves Knock Down Market Prices $1-$4 Share

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Korean war reverses brought on two severe selling waves today in the stock market and knocked down prices by $1 to around $4 a share.

A number of rallies were attempted from time to time but got no place. In the final hour another selling wave battered away interim gains and forced prices down to a new low on the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost $2.20 at $81.50. That loss was 30 cents less than last Tuesday when Gen. MacArthur proclaimed we were faced with "an entirely new war."

Motors, steel, rails and oils were among the most active major groups, and losses were particularly marked also in rubbers, chemicals, mining and a long list of miscellaneous industrial issues.

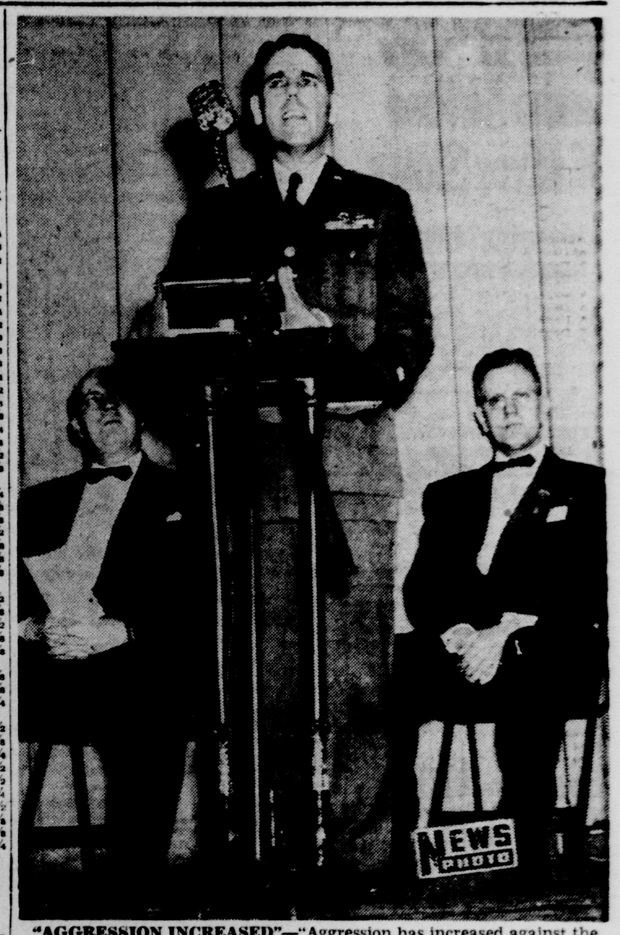
on the run. General MacArthur must, he can only, have ordered the "home by Christmas" offensive on the basis of an estimate of enemy capabilities and intentions so grossly false that over 200,000 Chinese troops were somehow lost in the shuffle. He must, he can only, have been perfectly sincere in saying that he hoped to "end the war for all practical purposes." It is a dreadful thing that General MacArthur thus walked into a huge, well-laid trap. But it is more just to our most eminent American soldier to admit this frankly, than to try to pretend that he got into the trap of his own volition.

In short the horror that confronts us proves the converse of a rule already given. Just as a great commander can work miracles with good intelligence, so even the greatest commander cannot overcome bad intelligence. Since the bad intelligence emanated from General MacArthur's own headquarters, this may displease those who like to believe that he has attained a sort of divine perfection. But facts are facts none the less, and they must be faced.



"AGGRESSION INCREASED"—"Aggression has increased against the U. S., not decreased since the Korean conflict began," Col. Joseph A. Caldara, U. S. Army Air Force, told his audience Sunday night at the Elks Memorial Service at Allegany High School auditorium. Col. Caldara was guest speaker at the annual event which eulogizes deceased members of local Lodge No. 63, B. P. O. Elks. Seen on the speaking roster are Earl M. Nonnenmann (left), Col. Caldara (at the microphone), and Walter A. Fraley, Jr., exalted ruler of the local lodge.

NO TRUMPS TO SPARE

THERE are times when you can't spare enough of the dummy's trumps to ruff out all the losing cards of some particular suit in your own hand. You may require some minimum number of trumps in the dummy in order to lead them through the defender who seems to hold a missing honor, against which it is necessary to finesse. In that event, you must find some other way to get rid of your losers, perhaps establishing another suit in the dummy so that you may discard them.

Algot S. Lindberg of Milwaukee, who reports this deal, doesn't explain why he left it in 6-Diamonds instead of 6-Hearts when holding four cards of that suit. Nor does he say why North bid 6-Diamonds instead of 6-Hearts. Either contract, as it developed, depended on trapping the diamond Q and playing soundly otherwise.

Against the diamond slam, West scored his club K and, when East put the unnecessarily high Q on it, led the club K. "I presumed this to be a feeble attempt to shorten dummy's trump," reports Mr. Lindberg. "Actually it told me where the diamond Q lay." He could have added that, if West had any more honor strength than the A-K he had shown, he might have made some bid.

Acting on his reading, Mr. Lindberg ruffed the second club honor with the diamond K, finessed the diamond J and 10, and caught the Q with the A. He then carefully utilized his heart entries to set up spades. He led the spade 10 to the A, ruffed the 4 with the diamond 2, led the heart 7 to the 10, ruffed the spade 6 with the diamond 7, which eliminated the Q and K, then led to the now solid dummy, making his contract neatly.

Notice that at 6-Hearts the same method would work, ruffing spades and establishing the dummy. Three ruffs could have been made of spades, two of them high, if needed, before exhausting trumps, as protection against bad suit divisions, so long as the diamond Q was gussed right.

Sharon Wright Is Featured Tonight At Civic Concert

Sharon Lee Wright, ten-year-old piano prodigy from Baltimore, will be the featured soloist at the Cumberland Civic Symphony's fall concert to be held this evening at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School auditorium.

Miss Sykes has played this year with the Baltimore and Richmond Symphonies.

On the program for this evening are ten classical selections, including Schubert's "Rosamunce Overture," "Arioso" by Bach and Richardson's "The British Grenaciers."

Two selections by Wagner are being presented, namely, "Procession of the Mastersingers" and "Introduction to Act II Lohengrin."

Mozart's "Concerto for Piano in A" and Herbert's "Dream Melody from Naughty Marietta" are also on the program.

In addition, "Serenade in the Night" by Cherubini, "Sleigh Ride" by Anderson, and "An American Fantasie" by Grossman are being featured.

Flood Threats Cease As Rise Of River Slows

Lowering Temperatures Check Danger In Area

Although there was a rapid rise in the waters of the Potomac River Sunday, it failed to develop into flood threats yesterday.

L. A. Koffman, of the local U. S. Geological Survey Office, reported that the rise at Wiley Ford, W. Va., had been approximately six feet since Saturday noon. At 11 a. m. yesterday the gauge height at Wiley Ford was 9.54 feet and at 6 p. m. yesterday the recording was 9.58 feet.

At Wills Creek, Koffman said, the rise had been approximately four feet since Saturday, the reading being 6.28 feet yesterday morning. At 4 p. m. yesterday the rise was only .28 feet greater.

Much debris had accumulated on the bridge at Wiley Ford because of the high water yesterday afternoon.

Koffman attributed the rapid rise of the water to the .6 inches of warm rain that fell Sunday evening, causing much of the snow to melt. During that time, the river was rising at a rate of about one-half foot per hour, he said.

There is little likelihood of any flood threats immediately as long as the temperatures here remain low, Koffman stated.

Flood Work Delayed

Flood control workers have been idle for over a week due to the snow. The layoff means a further delay to the reopening of Valley Street bridge to vehicular traffic.

Streams Leave Banks

East of Cumberland in this and Washington county, hunters reported last night that a number of small streams and creeks were out of their banks during the afternoon. There were also reports that U. S. Route 40 east of there was blocked by a couple of feet of water from one small stream, for a couple of hours.

Five inches of snow fell in westernmost Garrett County yesterday in a storm that started at 2 a. m. and lasted most of the day.

The new snow made driving hazardous. State Police said that seven inches had fallen in the area north of Frostburg, and warned motorists to use chains in that section of Garrett county and west of Frostburg on U. S. 40.

Allegany County on the other hand had remained free from such hazards. In Cumberland, approximately .6 inches of rain had fallen by late last night, with .3 inches of snow being recorded for the same period.

Storm warnings were given to all buses last night and those running north and west were reported to be running late.

New West Side Fire Engine Arrives

County Contributes $892,189 To State Retail Sales Tax Fund

Half Of $28,000,000 Comes From Baltimore

Of the state's total of $28,000,000, more than half came from Baltimore City, according to the state comptroller's office.

The balance, from other out-of-state sources and from the miscellaneous use tax, put the total sales tax receipts at $28,402,459 for the fiscal year ending last June 30.

It figures out to about $12 per person in Maryland.

Over Million Each

Three counties accounted for more than $1,000,000 apiece. They were Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges, with Baltimore topping the trio with $1,770,442. Montgomery contributed $1,477,465, Prince Georges $1,040,440.

Five other counties produced more than $500,000. They were:

Washington	$900,904.
Allegany,	$892,189
Anne Arundel,	$768,915.
Frederick,	$634,946.
Wiscomico,	$521,253.

Queen Annes County brought up the rear with $92,907.

Baltimore City collectors were down $254,096, the report said, but increases from other sources, including a $237,539 gain in the District of Columbia, provided for the net increase.

Necessities Lead List

Food and beverage, $5,737,925; apparel, $2,106,027; general merchandise, $7,974,393; automobile, $1,671,213; furniture and appliances, $2,372,316; lumber, builders and contractors, $3,425,952; utilities and transportation, $1,884,901; miscellaneous, $3,229,233.

In a more retailed business-and-industry analysis, department stores led the list with collections of $3,573,783. Liquors, taverns and night clubs produced $2,226,641.

Weather

Approximately .3 inches of snow fell in Cumberland yesterday as temperatures fluctuated around the freezing point. In Constitution Park the variation was from a low of 31 degrees to a high of 34 degrees. Downtown, the fluctuation was from a low of 36 degrees to a high of 39 degrees. The forecast for today calls for much colder temperatures and some wind.

Salvation Army Board Elects

Officers of the Salvation Army advisory board were nominated and elected at a meeting recently at Central YMCA, according to Maj. Elmer Wall, commanding officer.

Elected for 1951 were Henry W. Price, chairman; Lewis J. Ort, vice chairman; Lloyd Rawlings, secretary; and Lynn Lashley, treasurer.

All were re-elected with the exception of Ort. Franklin H. Ankeney was chairman of the nominating committee.

Four new members added to the board are A. Trago Brust, Jr., L. Leslie Helmer, Simon Rosenbaum and Leland E. Spencer. The board accepted the resignation of J. C. Patterson.

Frederic W. Eiler was re-elected Community Chest representative.

Because of their long service as advisory board members, Dr. A. H. Hawkins and Dr. C. L. Owens were appointed honorary board members, on the recommendation of the nominating committee.

Ort, who is chairman of the Christmas committee, reported that members of local service clubs will man the Salvation Army kettles Saturday, December 16, from 9:30 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Will Meet Thursday

The City Playground Association will meet Thursday at 8 o'clock in the City Hall council chamber.

A number of plans in the year's program of the Association are to be discussed, and it is important that every member organization have at least one representative present, officers said.

Sgt. Burns Speaks

Sgt. Virgil Burns, of the local Army Recruiting Station, spoke at the regular meeting of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association, which was held at the Grace M. E. Hall yesterday at noon.

Judge Issues Court Order For Mayhew

Jessups Man Seeks His Freedom Now

A writ of habeas corpus, instructing the sheriff of Anne Arundel County to have Frank Mayhew in Allegany County Circuit Court Wednesday, December 20, at 1 p. m. for a hearing, was issued yesterday by Judge George Henderson.

Mayhew, who is from Jessups, seeks his freedom from the Maryland House of Correction.

The Jessups man contends he was arrested in Westernport at 9 a. m. June 27 on a vagrancy charge and 30 minutes later, he alleges, he was tried before Magistrate John Laughlin.

Mayhew asserts that he was denied the right to summons witnesses in his own behalf. He states that three witnesses, whom he would have summoned, would have testified that he was gainfully employed at the time.

He names the witnesses as Elmer Mayhew, Franklin; Elmer Dwinn, Bloomington, and Patrick Mayhew, Franklin. Mayhew also contends that he was not present before Magistrate Laughlin at the time sentence was pronounced.

33 Owners Sell House In Dingle

Thirty-three persons, residents of seven different states, were listed as sellers of property at 801 Buckingham Road, The Dingle, in a $15,500 transaction handled through a deed filed in the clerk of court's office yesterday afternoon.

The sellers, residents of Maryland, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, sold the property to Harry Little.

The deed noted that the property had belonged to Mrs. Adeline McElfish, a widow, who died last New Year's Day without leaving a will. The 33 persons listed on the deed were Mrs. McElfish's sisters, brother, nephews and nieces and their husbands or wives.

Sale of three other pieces of property in transactions involving a total of $22,500 also were recorded in deeds filed yesterday.

Paul B. Wright and Marion C. Wright sold property on the south side of Oak Street, Bowling Green, to George Laffette Merrill and Martha Jane Merrill for $8,500. Charles O. Grindle and Margaret E. Grindle sold property on the east side of Pershing Drive, Potomac Park, to Richard N. Wilson and Ruth I. Wilson for $7,500. Walter E. Furr and Edith I. Furr sold property at Thomas and Third Streets to John J. Weinberger, Baltimore County, for $6,500.

City Council Grants Church Tax Exemption

Salary Increase Order Amended

The site in question is located at the corner of Bedford and Columbia Streets and is now being used for Sunday School activities. Taxes amounted to $144.15.

Winfield H. Adam, Lions president, said the party will be held December 20 at Central YMCA for selected pupils in local elementary schools. A turkey dinner will be served and gifts presented.

Council ordered a refund of $4.50 to John B. McFarland, 526 Fort Avenue, for overpayment of water rent.

Also approved was an amendment to an order passed November 20 providing for a "cost of living" bonus for hourly paid and salaried city employes. The amendment makes the effective date conform with pay periods in the various departments, starting with the first period in December.

Filed was a letter from Robert Kaplon, campaign chairman for the Jewish Welfare Fund in Western Maryland. Kaplon thanked the council for its $100 contribution.

Births Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Fike, Box 1, Cresaptown, a son, yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen L. Brown, 219 Fulton Street, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James O. Deck, 439 Arch Street, a son, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Miller, 942 Gay Street, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Briggs, 412 Pratt Street, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Humbertson, RFD 4, this city, a son, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Cook, 1112 Virginia Avenue, this city, a son, born last evening in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg. Mrs. Cook was the former Miss Helen Fettle.

Survey Starts On Overloading In City Buses

Long Says Meeting Planned This Week

A survey is being made this week in connection with complaints of overloading on Cumberland Transit Lines buses hauling school children in the city, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said last night.

Long told the Mayor and Council that Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, head of the department's Traffic Bureau, is surveying the bus routes and is riding in the buses hauling school children.

The survey will continue through Thursday, after which a meeting will be arranged with Guy Davis, owner of the bus line, and City Attorney W. Earle Cobey to discuss the problem, Long said.

Superintendent of Schools Charles L. Kopp has stated that the Board of Education has no jurisdiction over public service buses which haul pupils in Cumberland.

Fire Truck Arrives

Long also announced that Cumberland's newest fire truck, which arrived here last night from Baltimore, will be tested Friday "somewhere along the river."

He invited the council to inspect the Mack pumper, which was brought here by Acting Fire Chief William Lindner, Assistant Chief R. Paul Reid, Capt. Joseph Hoban, Charles R. Himmler, fire department chauffeur, and Austin L. Warnick, fireman.

Accompanying them was a representative of the Mack Truck Company, Long Island, N. Y. When the tests are conducted, an engineer from the National Fire Underwriters Association will be present.

The truck must be approved for service before it can be placed at the West Side Fire Station.

Long also invited the council to inspect new automatic parking meters which are being tested by the Police Department.

In his monthly report, Long said the Police Department made 1,011 arrests during November and collected $1,642 in fines.

The Fire Department answered 32 calls but the fires caused only minor property damage. Fire alarms boxes have been painted and four new boxes have been added to the system.

Fence Is Built

Charles F. Heller, maintenance foreman at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, reported 1,000 feet of fence was built along the Lamp Road. Cinders were placed on the main entrance road and props were placed under each truss in the 21 hangers to prevent possible damage from heavy snow.

City Tax Collector George E. Davis reported November collections totaled $57,625.66. They included general, $23,160.01; paving liens, $995.47; sewer liens, $227.68; and water rents, $33,242.50.

Monthly receipts reported by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery amounted to $1,723.35, including $944.25 for Sunday movie tax; $679.60 bingo tax; $54 for licenses; $45 for sale of city codes; and 50 cents for a produce permit.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick reported 19 new meters were installed and 58 water waste inspections made during the month.

Six Local Students In St. Agnes Pageant

The students of St. Agnes Hospital School of Nursing presented a pageant, "The History of Nursing," in Seton High School Auditorium last evening.

Local people who participated in the play were Bonnie Jordan Franklin, Elizabeth Ann Harnick, Majorie Ann Miller, Rush Angela Niely, Elizabeth Barbara Russell, and Joan Elizabeth Shoms. All of them were members of the speaking chorus for the pageant.

Autoists In State Will Get New Tags

Old Plates Will Be Replaced In 1951

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4 (AP)—Marylanders will get new automobile license tags next year. They will replace the aluminum with black numeral ones that have been used since 1947.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Arthur H. Brice has given notice the new plates will be issued on a "no favoritism" basis, except in a very few exceptional cases.

The governor for example, still will receive one emblazoned with the gold seal of Maryland. But those much sought after even-thousand and even-hundred numbered tags will be distributed on the same basis as the others, Brice said a year ago when there was some talk of a new issuance.

The 1951-52 tags will be made of steel, and the numbers will be white on a black background. They will have slots so that clips can be used to up-date them in succeeding years. There will be no "free state" slogan as had been proposed.

The tags will go on sale February 19, but cannot be used until March 15. They must be on all cars by March 31.

Leak In Main Believed Cause Of Explosion

Chief Estimates Damage At $15,000

Although the investigation into the explosion and fire which burned four persons and virtually ruined a one-an-one half story house on McMullen Highway in Bowling Green Sunday night still is continuing, Austin G. Snyder, chief of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department, said last night that he believes a leak in the gas main leading into the house was responsible for the damage.

Chief Snyder also said that he figured damage to the house and its contents would run in the neighborhood of $15,000.

In Critical Condition

Meanwhile, Mrs. Emma Scotti, LaVale, one of the four injured in the blast and explosion, was reported last night at Memorial Hospital as still in critical condition. She suffered burns about her body and face in the blast and fire that occurred about 10 p. m. Sunday.

The other three injured persons all were reported as in fair condition at Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Sol. C. Glicksman, 555 McMullen Highway, who own the damaged dwelling suffered second and third degree burns about the face and body, and Ronald Glicksman, their eight-year old son, was burned about the arms and face.

Snyder said last night the investigation yesterday uncovered a break in the gas main at the foundation of the Glicksmans' house. Apparently, the Bowling Green chief added, the gas seeped through the wall of the house and probably was ignited from the pilot light on the gas range in the kitchen.

The Glicksmans' and Mrs. Scotti smelled gas when they entered the house upon returning from a movie. The impact of the explosion which followed was greatest near the front door, Snyder said.

Firemen Praised

Chief Snyder said that 24 members of the Bowling Green department responded to the Sunday night alarm. He asserted his men were at the scene within six minutes after the blast occurred. Five minutes later the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department arrived. Some 10 minutes after Cresaptown reached the scene firemen from LaVale were on hand.

The Bowling Green chief expressed thanks to the volunteer firemen from Cresaptown and LaVale, who responded so promptly and efficiently. Most of the firemen remained at the scene until about 1 a. m. Monday, Snyder said. He assigned two of his men to all-night duty at the Glicksmans' house. Another volunteer firemen was at the damaged house last night to guard against possible pillage.

Snyder reported that Glicksman was a member of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department.

Joining in an investigation into the explosion, which tore away three walls of the building, are State Trooper A. M. Spioch, representatives of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company and county authorities.

Street Workers Discuss Policy Of Department

Mrs. Roeder Takes Complaints To Men

A policy meeting was held by employes of the Department of Streets and Commissioner of Streets and Public Property Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder.

At the meeting, Mrs. Roeder outlined a series of recent complaints and told the men of plans for the department. She said recent criticisms directed at the department reflected on the street superintendent and the men themselves, and not alone upon the commission or elected city officials.

She frankly told the men that numerous reports had come to her from citizens, charging that there are men in the department who have stated they do not want to work for a woman street commissioner. She said it has also come to her attention that there may be men in the department who deliberately attempt to neglect their work on the outside, thus drawing unfavorable comment and criticism against the department.

Mrs. Roeder told the men she wants them to know these reports are being circulated, and believes the men responsible should realize their actions, if true, reflect upon their foremen, the street superintendent and themselves.

Time Being Lost

Among complaints most frequently referred to her, she said, are those of killing time on the job, taking too long to get to a job, leaving the job much too soon before quitting time, and failure to do work completely and properly.

Mrs. Roeder outlined several proposals and asked the men for their cooperation in working out the department's problems. She said there are a couple of men who will be eligible for retirement shortly and their jobs will not be filled, but their work will be combined with others to reduce expenses of the department.

She stated an assistant superintendent of streets will be appointed shortly.

She also said an inventory control clerk will be hired, and the job may be placed under Civil Service.

Shop To Be Closed

The blacksmith shop is to be closed except for occasional work for the department, she said, and the practice of doing outside work will be discontinued. The mechanic or blacksmith is also an equipment operator. When he is not operating heavy equipment he will now work with a paving crew, she explained.

In a frank discussion of the complaints and criticisms, some of the men agreed that there is room for improvement, but countered the charges by saying that many of the complaints are coming from residents, who, prior to Mrs. Roeder's administration, had been on a "special privilege" list.

Mrs. Roeder agreed that this could be true, since she has insisted that absolutely no partiality be shown in street cleaning, paving work or snow removal. She said the men are following a regularly planned work schedule.

Snow Was Unusual

The men and their foreman also stated that the recent snow was one of the worst in their years of experience. The first that fell was actually a couple of inches of hard sleet. Equipment would not break it loose. On top of this was a light snow, like sand, and when hills were cindered in an effort to aid motorists, the cinders and light sandy snow mixed together, making the problem still greater.

The men told their commissioner that they realize there are complaints and while they may be responsible in part, are not entirely to blame. The freak weather condition caused a situaion with which they could not cope, and insufficient money in the budget for overtime work on snow removal also delayed the task.

The meeting, Mrs. Roeder said, resulted in a better understanding between the employes in the department and the department heads. She said she intends to keep the men fully informed of the department's problems, and will continue to seek their full cooperation.

Store Front Designs Win Wide Recognition

Cash Valley Farmer Reaps Large Corn Yield

Leo V. Helmsetter, Cash Valley farmer, harvested 400 bushels of hybird corn, U. S. No. 125, from a three-acre field this season.

He reported that 350 bushels was the best field corn he had ever raised, with ears being uniform size throughout and of a clean, plump, flinty texture.

The remaining 50 bushels were classed seconds or nubbins. This averages 133 bushels an acre, he said.

Clerks Return To Repaired Courtroom

Clerks in the office of Register of Wills A. Charles Stewart yesterday were back in the office from which they had to depart several weeks ago when portions of the ceiling plaster collapsed.

The work was finished last week and the three judges of Orphans Court will be able to hold court in their usual room today.

Deputy Court Clerks Sworn Into Office

Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, yesterday afternoon swore in three deputy clerks for new terms.

The deputies are Mervin R. Hast, Kinsey McDonald and Walter Fisher.

To Present Play

The Royal Ambassador Boys, Girls Auxiliary, and Sunbeams of First Baptist Church will present a playlet, "Wings for the Gospel," at 7:30 tomorrow night at the church. The WMS and Young Peoples Circle are in charge.

Legion To Meet

Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion will meet at the post home in Ridgeley, W. Va., tonight at 8 o'clock. A vote will be taken on changes in the post constitution and by-laws, according to Commander Roland S. Tabler.

Postage Stamps Sale May Indicate Early Mail Rush

Although the present mailing trend appears to be normal, the large advance sale of two cent postage stamps seems to indicate that people are planning to mail Christmas cards and letters early this year, Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster, said yesterday.

This would be a great aid to the local postal employes and carriers who have an increased load this year, Cumiskey related, because of the reduction in man power and postal costs made earlier this year.

Fewer employes are handling the mail and carriers have much larger routes making the indicated heavy load of mail for Christmas holidays a pressing problem with the local post office, he noted.

Because of the longer routes, Cumiskey stated, local carriers will handle and sack almost twice as much as normal and if the mailing rush is early this season it will ease the burden of all concerned a great deal.

As Christmas falls on a Monday this year a last-minute influx of mail would cause employes of the local office to work over Sunday, so everyone is urged to mail cards and packages as early as possible to avoid the last minute delay, Cumiskey said.

This Is Winter Way To Get To Sunday School

Lester Raines found a way of transporting his family and neighbors to Sunday School Sunday that proved a lot of fun for the entire group. He rigged up the two horses to an old-fashioned farm sled and then loaded his passengers. That way they made the trip to the Prosperity Methodist Church on Pleasant Valley Road. In the picture, left to right, are Raines, Shelva Dean Raines, Merill Miller, Audrey Miller, Linda Lou Raines, Janice Raines, Patty Miller and Mrs. Lester Raines.

19 County Youths Attend Hi-Y Meet In Washington

Nineteen county youths attended an area Hi-Y conference held over the weekend in Washington, D. C., according to Winfield H. Adam, general secretary of Central YMCA.

The three-day session marked the 27th annual Hi-Y Older Boys' Conference, sponsored by the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs.

Theme was "Which Way Now?" The program included discussion panels and interviews with leading American and foreign officials in Washington.

Anthony DiGioia of Bruce Hi-Y, Westernport, served as one of the 16 discussion leaders.

Robert DeHaven of Fort Hill Hi-Y and John Gornall of Allegany Hi-Y served on the conference council.

Other county youths named to special posts were Richard Dailey, Fort Hill, evaluation committee; Charles Wickard, Allegany, news committee; and Francis Aronholt, Allegany, interview team captain.

Others in the group were Don Fletcher, Arthur Gardner, Kenneth McGraw, Jim Mulligan, Ernest Sisk, Charles Smith and Fred Storey from Allegany Hi-Y.

Ronald Gordon, David Lehman, Gerald Null, John Park and Alvin Wilson, Fort Hill Hi-Y; and Holbert Fazenbaker, Bruce Hi-Y.

Flood Threats Cease As Rise Of River Slows

Lowering Temperatures Check Danger In Area

Although there was a rapid rise in the waters of the Potomac River Sunday, it failed to develop into flood threats yesterday.

L. A. Koffman, of the local U. S. Geological Survey Office, reported that the rise at Wiley Ford, W. Va., had been approximately six feet since Saturday noon. At 11 a. m. yesterday the gauge height at Wiley Ford was 9.54 feet and at 6 p. m. yesterday the recording was 9.58 feet.

At Wills Creek, Koffman said, the rise had been approximately four feet since Saturday, the reading being 6.28 feet yesterday morning. At 4 p. m. yesterday the rise was only .28 feet greater.

Much debris had accumulated on the bridge at Wiley Ford because of the high water yesterday afternoon.

Koffman attributed the rapid rise of the water to the .6 inches of warm rain that fell Sunday evening, causing much of the snow to melt. During that time, the river was rising at a rate of about one-half foot per hour, he said.

There is little likelihood of any flood threats immediately as long as the temperatures here remain low, Koffman stated.

Streams Leave Banks

East of Cumberland in this and Washington county, hunters reported last night that a number of small streams and creeks were out of their banks during the afternoon. There were also reports that U. S. Route 40 east of there was blocked by a couple of feet of water from one small stream, for a couple of hours.

Five inches of snow fell in westernmost Garrett County yesterday in a storm that started at 2 a. m. and lasted most of the day.

The new snow made driving hazardous. State Police said that seven inches had fallen in the area north of Frostburg, and warned motorists to use chains in that section of Garrett county and west of Frostburg on U. S. 40.

Allegany County on the other hand had remained free from such hazards. In Cumberland, approximately .6 inches of rain had fallen by late last night, with .3 inches of snow being recorded for the same period.

Storm warnings were given to all buses last night and those running north and west were reported to be running late.

In Thomas, W. Va., the temperature last night was 24 degrees, skies were cloudy, and five inches of new snow had fallen.

County Contributes $892,189 To State Retail Sales Tax Fund

Half Of $28,000,000 Comes From Baltimore

Allegany County accounted for almost $900,000 in Maryland's retail sales tax during the last fiscal year.

Of the state's total of $28,000,000, more than half came from Baltimore City, according to the state comptroller's office.

The annual report said $16,084,137 came from Baltimore sources, $10,875,693 from the counties and $877,758 from the District of Columbia.

The balance, from other out-of-state sources and from the miscellaneous use tax, put the total sales tax receipts at $28,402,459 for the fiscal year ending last June 30.

It figures out to about $12 per person in Maryland.

Over Million Each

Three counties accounted for more than $1,000,000 apiece. They were Baltimore, Montgomery and Prince Georges, with Baltimore topping the trio with $1,770,442. Montgomery contributed $1,477,465, Prince Georges $1,040,440.

Five other counties produced more than $500,000. They were:

Washington	$900,904.
Allegany,	$892,189
Anne Arundel,	$768,915.
Frederick,	$634,946.
Wiscomico,	$521,253.

Queen Annes County brought up the rear with $92,907.

Baltimore City collectors were down $254,096, the report said, but increases from other sources, including a $237,539 gain in the District of Columbia, provided for the net increase.

Necessities Lead List

The statistical analysis listed these receipts by business groups:

Food and beverage, $5,737,925; apparel, $2,106,027; general merchandise, $7,974,393; automobile, $1,671,213; furniture and appliances, $2,372,316; lumber, builders and contractors, $3,425,952; utilities and transportation, $1,884,901; miscellaneous, $3,229,233.

All but apparel, automobile and miscellaneous showed increases.

In a more retailed business-and-industry analysis, department stores led the list with collections of $3,573,783. Liquors, taverns and night clubs produced $2,226,641.

Salvation Army Board Elects

Officers of the Salvation Army advisory board were nominated and elected at a meeting recently at Central YMCA, according to Maj. Elmer Wall, commanding officer.

Elected for 1951 were Henry W. Price, chairman; Lewis J. Ort, vice chairman; Lloyd Rawlings, secretary; and Lynn Lashley, treasurer.

All were re-elected with the exception of Ort. Franklin H. Ankeney was chairman of the nominating committee.

Four new members added to the board are A. Trago Brust, Jr., L. Leslie Helmer, Simon Rosenbaum and Leland E. Spencer. The board accepted the resignation of J. C. Patterson.

Frederic W. Eiler was re-elected Community Chest representative.

Because of their long service as advisory board members, Dr. A. H. Hawkins and Dr. C. L. Owens were appointed honorary board members, on the recommendation of the nominating committee.

Ort, who is chairman of the Christmas committee, reported that members of local service clubs will man the Salvation Army kettles Saturday, December 16, from 9:30 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Will Meet Thursday

The City Playground Association will meet Thursday at 8 o'clock in the City Hall council chamber.

A number of plans in the year's program of the Association are to be discussed, and it is important that every member organization have at least one representative present, officers said.

Sgt. Burns Speaks

Sgt. Virgil Burns, of the local Army Recruiting Station, spoke at the regular meeting of the South Cumberland Businessmen's Association, which was held at the Grace M. E. Hall yesterday at noon.

Judge Issues Court Order For Mayhew

Jessups Man Seeks His Freedom Now

A writ of habeas corpus, instructing the sheriff of Anne Arundel County to have Frank Mayhew in Allegany County Circuit Court Wednesday, December 20, at 1 p. m. for a hearing, was issued yesterday by Judge George Henderson.

Mayhew, who is from Jessups, seeks his freedom from the Maryland House of Correction.

The Jessups man contends he was arrested in Westernport at 9 a. m. June 27 on a vagrancy charge and 30 minutes later, he alleges, he was tried before Magistrate John Laughlin.

Mayhew asserts that he was denied the right to summons witnesses in his own behalf. He states that three witnesses, whom he would have summoned, would have testified that he was gainfully employed at the time.

He names the witnesses as Elmer Mayhew, Franklin; Elmer Dwinn, Bloomington, and Patrick Mayhew, Franklin. Mayhew also contends that he was not present before Magistrate Laughlin at the time sentence was pronounced.

33 Owners Sell House In Dingle

Thirty-three persons, residents of seven different states, were listed as sellers of property at 801 Buckingham Road, The Dingle, in a $15,500 transaction handled through a deed filed in the clerk of court's office yesterday afternoon.

The sellers, residents of Maryland, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, sold the property to Harry Little.

The deed noted that the property had belonged to Mrs. Adeline McElfish, a widow, who died last New Year's Day without leaving a will. The 33 persons listed on the deed were Mrs. McElfish's sisters, brother, nephews and nieces and their husbands or wives.

Sale of three other pieces of property in transactions involving a total of $22,500 also were recorded in deeds filed yesterday.

Paul B. Wright and Marion C. Wright sold property on the south side of Oak Street, Bowling Green, to George Laffette Merrill and Martha Jane Merrill for $8,500. Charles O. Grindle and Margaret E. Grindle sold property on the east side of Pershing Drive, Potomac Park, to Richard N. Wilson and Ruth I. Wilson for $7,500. Walter E. Furr and Edith I. Furr sold property at Thomas and Third Streets to John J. Weinberger, Baltimore County, for $6,500.

City Council Grants Church Tax Exemption

Salary Increase Order Amended

Property owned by First Baptist Church was granted exemption from 1950 city taxes by the Mayor and Council last night.

The site in question is located at the corner of Bedford and Columbia Streets and is now being used for Sunday School activities. Taxes amounted to $144.15.

The request was granted under jurisdiction of the Police Department.

Winfield H. Adam, Lions president, said the party will be held December 20 at Central YMCA for selected pupils in local elementary schools. A turkey dinner will be served and gifts presented.

Council ordered a refund of $4.50 to John B. McFarland, 526 Fort Avenue, for overpayment of water rent.

Also approved was an amendment to an order passed November 20 providing for a "cost of living" bonus for hourly paid and salaried city employes. The amendment makes the effective date conform with pay periods in the various departments, starting with the first period in December.

The original order made the hourly bonus effective November 26 and the bonus for salaried employes effective December 1.

Filed was a letter from Robert Kaplon, campaign chairman for the Jewish Welfare Fund in Western Maryland. Kaplon thanked the council for its $100 contribution.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Briggs, 412 Pratt Street, a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Humbertson, RFD 4, this city, a son, Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Cook, 1112 Virginia Avenue, this city, a son, born last evening in Miners' Hospital, Frostburg. Mrs. Cook was the former Miss Helen Fettle.

Survey Starts On Overloading In City Buses

Long Says Meeting Planned This Week

A survey is being made this week in connection with complaints of overloading on Cumberland Transit Lines buses hauling school children in the city, Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long said last night.

Long told the Mayor and Council that Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, head of the department's Traffic Bureau, is surveying the bus routes and is riding in the buses hauling school children.

The survey will continue through Thursday, after which a meeting will be arranged with Guy Davis, owner of the bus line, and City Attorney W. Earle Cobey to discuss the problem, Long said.

Superintendent of Schools Charles L. Kopp has stated that the Board of Education has no jurisdiction over public service buses which haul pupils in Cumberland.

Fire Truck Arrives

Long also announced that Cumberland's newest fire truck, which arrived here last night from Baltimore, will be tested Friday "somewhere along the river."

He invited the council to inspect the Mack pumper, which was brought here by Acting Fire Chief William Lindner, Assistant Chief R. Paul Reid, Capt. Joseph Hoban, Charles R. Himmler, fire department chauffeur, and Austin L. Warnick, fireman.

Accompanying them was a representative of the Mack Truck Company, Long Island, N. Y. When the tests are conducted, an engineer from the National Fire Underwriters Association will be present.

The truck must be approved for service before it can be placed at the West Side Fire Station.

Long also invited the council to inspect new automatic parking meters which are being tested by the Police Department.

In his monthly report, Long said the Police Department made 1,011 arrests during November and collected $1,642 in fines.

The Fire Department answered 32 calls but the fires caused only minor property damage. Fire alarms boxes have been painted and four new boxes have been added to the system.

Fence Is Built

Charles F. Heller, maintenance foreman at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, reported 1,000 feet of fence was built along the Lamp Road. Cinders were placed on the main entrance road and props were placed under each truss in the 21 hangers to prevent possible damage from heavy snow.

City Tax Collector George E. Davis reported November collections totaled $57,625.66. They included general, $23,160.01; paving liens, $995.47; sewer liens, $227.68; and water rents, $33,242.50.

Monthly receipts reported by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery amounted to $1,723.35, including $944.25 for Sunday movie tax; $679.60 bingo tax; $54 for licenses; $45 for sale of city codes; and 50 cents for a produce permit.

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick reported 19 new meters were installed and 58 water waste inspections made during the month.

Six Local Students In St. Agnes Pageant

The students of St. Agnes Hospital School of Nursing presented a pageant, "The History of Nursing," in Seton High School Auditorium last evening.

Local people who participated in the play were Bonnie Jordan Franklin, Elizabeth Ann Harnick, Majorie Ann Miller, Rush Angela Niely, Elizabeth Barbara Russell, and Joan Elizabeth Shoms. All of them were members of the speaking chorus for the pageant.

Autoists In State Will Get New Tags

Old Plates Will Be Replaced In 1951

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4 (AP)—Marylanders will get new automobile license tags next year. They will replace the aluminum with black numeral ones that have been used since 1947.

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Arthur H. Brice has given notice the new plates will be issued on a "no favoritism" basis, except in a very few exceptional cases.

The governor for example, still will receive one emblazoned with the gold seal of Maryland. But those much sought after even-thousand and even-hundred numbered tags will be distributed on the same basis as the others, Brice said a year ago when there was some talk of a new issuance.

The 1951-52 tags will be made of steel, and the numbers will be white on a black background. They will have slots so that clips can be used to up-date them in succeeding years. There will be no "free state" slogan as had been proposed.

The tags will go on sale February 19, but cannot be used until March 15. They must be on all cars by March 31.

Leak In Main Believed Cause Of Explosion

Chief Estimates Damage At $15,000

Although the investigation into the explosion and fire which burned four persons and virtually ruined a one-an-one half story house on McMullen Highway in Bowling Green Sunday night still is continuing, Austin G. Snyder, chief of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department, said last night that he believes a leak in the gas main leading into the house was responsible for the damage.

Chief Snyder also said that he figured damage to the house and its contents would run in the neighborhood of $15,000.

In Critical Condition

Meanwhile, Mrs. Emma Scotti, LaVale, one of the four injured in the blast and explosion, was reported last night at Memorial Hospital as still in critical condition. She suffered burns about her body and face in the blast and fire that occurred about 10 p. m. Sunday.

The other three injured persons all were reported as in fair condition at Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Sol. C. Glicksman, 555 McMullen Highway, who own the damaged dwelling suffered second and third degree burns about the face and body, and Ronald Glicksman, their eight-year old son, was burned about the arms and face.

Snyder said last night the investigation yesterday uncovered a break in the gas main at the foundation of the Glicksmans' house. Apparently, the Bowling Green chief added, the gas seeped through the wall of the house and probably was ignited from the pilot light on the gas range in the kitchen.

The Glicksmans' and Mrs. Scotti smelled gas when they entered the house upon returning from a movie. The impact of the explosion which followed was greatest near the front door, Snyder said.

Firemen Praised

Chief Snyder said that 24 members of the Bowling Green department responded to the Sunday night alarm. He asserted his men were at the scene within six minutes after the blast occurred. Five minutes later the Cresaptown Volunteer Fire Department arrived. Some 10 minutes after Cresaptown reached the scene firemen from LaVale were on hand.

The Bowling Green chief expressed thanks to the volunteer firemen from Cresaptown and LaVale, who responded so promptly and efficiently. Most of the firemen remained at the scene until about 1 a. m. Monday, Snyder said. He assigned two of his men to all-night duty at the Glicksmans' house. Another volunteer firemen was at the damaged house last night to guard against possible pillage.

Snyder reported that Glicksman was a member of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Department.

Joining in an investigation into the explosion, which tore away three walls of the building, are State Trooper A. M. Spioch, representatives of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company and county authorities.

Street Workers Discuss Policy Of Department

Mrs. Roeder Takes Complaints To Men

A policy meeting was held by employes of the Department of Streets and Commissioner of Streets and Public Property Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder.

At the meeting, Mrs. Roeder outlined a series of recent complaints and told the men of plans for the department. She said recent criticisms directed at the department reflected on the street superintendent and the men themselves, and not alone upon the commission or elected city officials.

She frankly told the men that numerous reports had come to her from citizens, charging that there are men in the department who have stated they do not want to work for a woman street commissioner. She said it has also come to her attention that there may be men in the department who deliberately attempt to neglect their work on the outside, thus drawing unfavorable comment and criticism against the department.

Mrs. Roeder told the men she wants them to know these reports are being circulated, and believes the men responsible should realize their actions, if true, reflect upon their foremen, the street superintendent and themselves.

Time Being Lost

Among complaints most frequently referred to her, she said, are those of killing time on the job, taking too long to get to a job, leaving the job much too soon before quitting time, and failure to do work completely and properly.

Mrs. Roeder outlined several proposals and asked the men for their cooperation in working out the department's problems. She said there are a couple of men who will be eligible for retirement shortly and their jobs will not be filled, but their work will be combined with others to reduce expenses of the department.

She stated an assistant superintendent of streets will be appointed shortly.

She also said an inventory control clerk will be hired, and the job may be placed under Civil Service.

Shop To Be Closed

The blacksmith shop is to be closed except for occasional work for the department, she said, and the practice of doing outside work will be discontinued. The mechanic or blacksmith is also an equipment operator. When he is not operating heavy equipment he will now work with a paving crew, she explained.

In a frank discussion of the complaints and criticisms, some of the men agreed that there is room for improvement, but countered the charges by saying that many of the complaints are coming from residents, who, prior to Mrs. Roeder's administration, had been on a "special privilege" list.

Mrs. Roeder agreed that this could be true, since she has insisted that absolutely no partiality be shown in street cleaning, paving work or snow removal. She said the men are following a regularly planned work schedule.

Snow Was Unusual

The men and their foreman also stated that the recent snow was one of the worst in their years of experience. The first that fell was actually a couple of inches of hard sleet. Equipment would not break it loose. On top of this was a light snow, like sand, and when hills were cindered in an effort to aid motorists, the cinders and light sandy snow mixed together, making the problem still greater.

The men told their commissioner that they realize there are complaints and while they may be responsible in part, are not entirely to blame. The freak weather condition caused a situaion with which they could not cope, and insufficient money in the budget for overtime work on snow removal also delayed the task.

The meeting, Mrs. Roeder said, resulted in a better understanding between the employes in the department and the department heads. She said she intends to keep the men fully informed of the department's problems, and will continue to seek their full cooperation.

Store Front Designs Win Wide Recognition

"Open-vision" store front designs in two downtown Cumberland stores have gained nation-wide recognition for S. Russ Minter, local architect.

Postage Stamps Sale May Indicate Early Mail Rush

Although the present mailing trend appears to be normal, the large advance sale of two cent postage stamps seems to indicate that people are planning to mail Christmas cards and letters early this year, Thomas B. Cumiskey, assistant postmaster, said yesterday.

This would be a great aid to the local postal employes and carriers who have an increased load this year, Cumiskey related, because of the reduction in man power and postal costs made earlier this year.

Fewer employes are handling the mail and carriers have much larger routes making the indicated heavy load of mail for Christmas holidays a pressing problem with the local post office, he noted.

Because of the longer routes, Cumiskey stated, local carriers will handle and sack almost twice as much as normal and if the mailing rush is early this season it will ease the burden of all concerned a great deal.

As Christmas falls on a Monday this year a last-minute influx of mail would cause employes of the local office to work over Sunday, so everyone is urged to mail cards and packages as early as possible to avoid the last minute delay, Cumiskey said.

This Is Winter Way To Get To Sunday School

Lester Raines found a way of transporting his family and neighbors to Sunday School Sunday that proved a lot of fun for the entire group. He rigged up the two horses to an old-fashioned farm sled and then loaded his passengers. That way they made the trip to the Prosperity Methodist Church on Pleasant Valley Road. In the picture, left to right, are Raines, Shelva Dean Raines, Merill Miller, Audrey Miller, Linda Lou Raines, Janice Raines, Patty Miller and Mrs. Lester Raines.

19 County Youths Attend Hi-Y Meet In Washington

Nineteen county youths attended an area Hi-Y conference held over the weekend in Washington, D. C., according to Winfield H. Adam, general secretary of Central YMCA.

The three-day session marked the 27th annual Hi-Y Older Boys' Conference, sponsored by the Central Atlantic Area Council of YMCAs.

Theme was "Which Way Now?" The program included discussion panels and interviews with leading American and foreign officials in Washington.

Anthony DiGioia of Bruce Hi-Y, Westernport, served as one of the 16 discussion leaders.

Robert DeHaven of Fort Hill Hi-Y and John Gornall of Allegany Hi-Y served on the conference council.

Other county youths named to special posts were Richard Dailey, Fort Hill, evaluation committee; Charles Wickard, Allegany, news committee; and Francis Aronholt, Allegany, interview team captain.

Others in the group were Don Fletcher, Arthur Gardner, Kenneth McGraw, Jim Mulligan, Ernest Sisk, Charles Smith and Fred Storey from Allegany Hi-Y.

Ronald Gordon, David Lehman, Gerald Null, John Park and Alvin Wilson, Fort Hill Hi-Y; and Holbert Fazenbaker, Bruce Hi-Y.
